National shock waves from woman's death

Nationwide interest is developing in the death of an 18-year-old married woman following a local abortion.

In addition to the shock waves reverberating outward from the Quad-Cities, the local community also has felt intense anguish over the issue.

Those who oppose abortion clinics hope to utilize the case to secure increased legal restraints. Those who favor them have been, in general, silent on the topic.

Testimony to resume next week

(25th in a series on politics in Madison County)

Major political impact on the 1978 Madison County sheriff election could result from present activities of grand juries studying sheriff department deputies' actions and allegations.

Some form of definitive outcome is expected this year from both Madison County and U.S. grand jury investigations.

However, the process is moving at an agonizingly slow pace, in the view of some deputies who feel they have "gone out on a limb" in voicing complaints and comments.

For the third consecutive time, a Madison County grand jury—studying a major theft case and allegations that a Madison County sheriff's deputy purchased some stolen equipment—journaled Wednesday evening without taking any action against any deputy.

The grand jury will meet again at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 7, to hear further testimony in the case.

During yesterday morning's session, the county grand jury also heard another case.

Grand jury proceedings are secret. Seen entering the jury chambers were the brother and wife of Richard D. Smith, McKenzie, Tenn., who has been charged with theft in connection with the recovery of about $10,000 worth of stolen office equipment July 14 in the basement of 2207a Grand Ave.

The Smith case could expand to include a public official, it has been indicated.

That case is unrelated to the probe involving at least one sheriff's deputy, who allegedly purchased a console television set stolen from Bert's TV and Audio Showroom in June.

The Bert's TV case first was studied by a grand jury Aug. 1 when theft indictments were returned against Kenneth W. Stover, 20, and Gary L. Rainey, 20, both of Alton, and Mark J. McManus, 22, and Robert M. Gayan, 30, both of Godfrey.

Stover, former manager for Bert's TV, alleged that a deputy purchased a television from Gayan, but the deputy said he didn't know the television was stolen, sources said.

Stover's statements were made to police investigators and news media, but he pleaded the Fifth Amendment before the grand jury Aug. 1 on the advice

Contrast between beginning and end

The weatherman smiled on Belleville Area College's fall get-acquainted picnic during the first week of school. Downpours the previous day turned to fair skies, enabling 750 BAC students, faculty members and staff to enjoy hot dogs, baked beans and potato salad to the sound of country tunes produced by Arrow Memphis.

The annual picnic is sponsored by the BAC Student Activities Committee and is funded by student activity fees. A school-closing picnic last spring brought out 2,000 students and college personnel, which may say something for the enthusiasm that school endings are met with in contrast to fall beginnings.

NEWS CONFERENCE PANEL accepts questions from representatives of the news media Monday. The conference, held in the fifth-floor conference room at St. Elizabeth Hospital, was sponsored by the Illinois Federation for Life concerning the death of Mrs. Barbara Lee Davis who died June 14 as the result of an abortion performed at the Hope Clinic for Women, 21st and Iowa Streets. From left, are Mrs. Jo Higgins, president of the National Association of Pro-Life Nurses; Mrs. Felicia Goeken, president of the Illinois Federation for Life and secretary of the National Right to Life Committee; Dr. Peter J. McFarlane, a practicing obstetrician and gynecologist who was present to answer any technical questions asked; and John A. Bock Jr., a Belleville attorney representing the family of Mrs. Davis.

Aid in 'small disasters

A disaster is a disaster even if it affects "only" one, two, three or four families, the Tri-Cities Area United Way executive committee said Tuesday in deciding to recommend that such an aid program be made permanent here.

In February 1976, the local United Way established a one-to-four-family disaster fund for operation on an experimental basis. Tuesday's vote asks that the UW board extend the program on a permanent basis.

Forty-three families have been helped since the special United Way project began a year and a half ago. Total expenditures have been $4,128, an average of $95 per family and about $3,000 a year.

Most of those aided have been the victims of fires that unexpectedly forced them out of their homes for varying periods of time.

The amount of temporary assistance given varies according to the needs, and it often includes overnight lodging for brief spans until the family can make other living arrangements.

Plenty now—steel shortage predicted

(Fourth of a series)
In essence, foreign producers face a basic confrontation between unprofitable operations, early retirements, or increased export shipments to the U.S.

It is impossible to predict the degree to which each of these alternatives will be followed. But the prognosis of substantially increased imports into the U.S. is unavoidable, given the historic practice of foreign producers of exporting at any price they can obtain above variable costs, and given the fact that it is uneconomic for U.S. producers to meet these prices.

Substantially increased import penetration—which could conceivably increase to 30 per cent of the U.S. market—would further impair the profitability of domestic producers and curtail the addition of capacity which the U.S. economy will need after 1980.

The U.S. cannot depend on foreign producers to add capacity for the U.S. market, either, because the low prices which are necessary in the short run to enter the U.S. market will not support new or even replacement capacity in the long run.

As a result, the U.S. economy will be extremely vulnerable to a steel shortage, which could emerge any time after 1980.

In fact, if domestic capacity is not built, the U.S. can be virtually certain of a major shortage between 1980 and 1985.

The Free World's large steel producing areas—the U.S., Japan and the European Economic Community—face a precarious situation during the 1977-1980 period.

The stakes are high.

The political and economic strategies adopted by steel producers and government policymakers in each nation will have a considerable bearing on the health and international competitiveness of their respective steel industries, and on the long-term

Early start for assessor

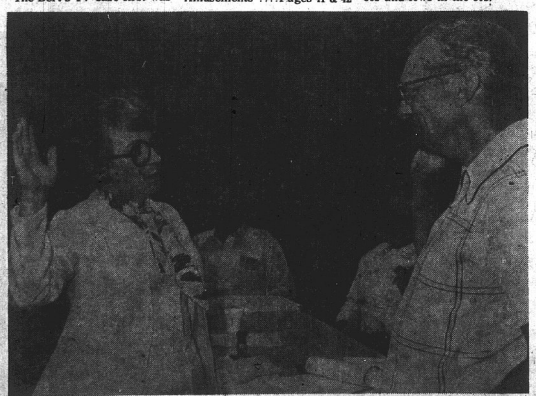

Charles Lexow, tax collector of Chouteau Township the past 37 years, resigned that position and was immediately appointed the township's tax assessor during the Chouteau Town Board of Trustees meeting Monday night.

As the new tax assessor, Lexow fills the vacancy created by the death of Roy Reeves of South Roxana. The board also agreed to appoint Cletus Bedwell as the new tax collector, but their terms were not scheduled to begin until salary until Jan. 1, since he will not be collecting taxes during that period.

Lexow was elected in April as tax assessor and Bedwell as tax collector, but their terms were not scheduled to begin until

NEW ASSESSOR of Chouteau Township, Charles Lexow, standing at right, is sworn in by Chouteau Town Clerk Patricia Polley, left, during Monday night's town board of trustees meeting. Lexow has served the last 37 years as township tax collector and was elected to serve as assessor beginning next January. He was sworn in early, however, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Assessor Roy Reeves. Cletus Bedwell, who was elected to serve as tax collector beginning next January also was appointed early to that post, filling the vacancy created by Lexow's change to assessor. Seated between them are Supervisor Walter Sparks, left, and Trustee Marion Sparks.

TRUCK REPAIR CENTER for engines, clutches and transmissions of tractor-trailer trucks is open at 2200 West Chain of Rocks Road, one mile east of Illinois Route 3. The TEC-6 center is equipped to handle six tractors simultaneously and is geared to the complete overhaul of a truck engine with the use of a dynamometer for the analysis of the work. The center is operated by Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Slater and has a parts department for over-the-counter sales. The 8,000-square-foot facility has a three-ton overhead crane for the quick removal of engines and eventually will have an engine exchange facility.

Rapid use of new steel technologies

Despite arguments to the contrary, the overall record shows that the American steel industry has "adopted most new technologies, wherever developed, at least as rapidly — and probably more so — than steel industries elsewhere around the world," according to an article in the latest issue of Steel '77, a quarterly magazine published by the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Under the headline, "World rests firmly on steel technology," the story — developed from a report by the American Iron and Steel Institute's Committee on General Research — was written by Richard K. Pfitler, vice president-technical director, Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp.

It is the first attempt by the Institute to assess how the domestic steel industry compares with those in other countries in utilizing new steelmaking techniques developed during the past 10 to 15 years.

The article notes that the rate at which the domestic steel industry adopts new technology is determined by a number of factors. These are:

- (1) The comparative economic advantage of using a new technology to replace an already existing and economically usable technology. "New technologies are adopted because they make economic sense, not because they are new. New is not always better."
- (2) The availability of capital. "Implementing new technology often requires large amounts of money. Even though a new technology may be desirable, individual companies may simply be unable to afford it."
- (3) The rate at which new capacity can be added or old capacity replaced. "It is easier and more economic to utilize new technology in a capacity expansion than it is when retrofitting already existing capacity."
- (4) The availability of raw materials and energy. "In many cases, adopting a specific technology is related to a company's particular situation. What may make good sense for one company with one raw material and energy supply may make no economic sense for another company."
- (5) Government mandate or regulation. "Certainly in the area of environmental control technologies — and more recently in the area of government regulation of energy supplies — new and different technologies may be adopted which otherwise would not be."

The report also contains these other conclusions:

- The rate of adoption of new technologies requiring large capital investments slowed appreciably in the United States starting around 1969 or 1970.
- Information on new technology spreads rapidly throughout the world. Within two to four years of the first commercial use of such technology in one country, others are also many times starting to put it to use.
- Commercially implementing a developing technology first is not always necessarily the best economic decision. In most cases, since technological development is evolutionary, major significant advances are difficult to achieve and are done so at high cost.
- During the period covered in the report, a large number of technological developments have been made by, or offered to, the domestic steel industry and eventually adopted. Even though developments, however, have been offered and rejected — either here or elsewhere.
- Eleven areas covered in the report are: Raw materials, coking, ironmaking, steelmaking, casting, rolling, heating and heat treatment, cleaning and coating, process control, business systems and new products.

Deadline for grants plea

The deadline to submit applications to the American Council of Learned Societies' fellowship program and the grants-in-aid for recent recipients of the Ph.D. degree is Sept. 30.

The fellowship program is designed to provide opportunities for scholars to engage in research in such fields as philosophy, languages, literature, linguistics, archaeology, history, cultural anthropology and folklore.

Fellowships are intended primarily to provide living expenses so the researcher can devote full time to research, and may not exceed $13,500 for a period of six to 12 months.

John Rodman, director of the SIUE Office of Research and Projects, said:

Grants-in-aid for recent recipients of the Ph.D. (subject to being funded) provides a $1,500 stipend for scholars engaged in the preparation of dissertation research for publication, or other work leading to a first substantial publication.

Grants may be used only to support research and travel expenses incurred away from home, with a maximum of one month's subsistence, and for the purchase of essential materials or services, Rodman said.

The applicant's Ph.D. degree must have been conferred no earlier than July 1, 1975. Additional information concerning both programs may be obtained by contacting the SIUE Office of Research and Projects.

Percy may face tough campaign

By KEN WATSON

Springfield Bureau
Has there been an erosion of public support for U.S. Sen. Charles H. Percy?
If so, what has caused it? These are two major topics of discussion in Illinois political circles these days.

The widening discussion of Percy's situation could have a far-reaching impact on the careers of several of the state's top political figures.

The re-evaluation of Percy's prospects for the 1978 election has been a surprisingly sudden late summer development.

Up to a few weeks ago, it was generally considered that he was a shoe-in and could expect only relatively weak opposition again next year.

But suddenly all this has changed and the new feeling beneath the Statehouse Dome is that Percy will face heavyweight opposition and a tough campaign.

What has happened? After all, he won by more than one million votes in 1972.

Several factors are cited for the assumed decline in Percy's strength.

Politics is a cruel profession and Percy's friends as well as his detractors recognize that he is beginning to age.

He will be 58 next month, far from elderly for a U.S. senator.

But an especially strenuous public life may be taking its toll. Some who met Percy during his State Fair Week visit to Springfield were shocked by his wan appearance and seeming fatigue.

A public image of a youthful, vigorous "Chuck" Percy has been one of his strongest political assets.

And, in an era when voters appear to be constantly seeking "new faces," any diminishing of this image could be troublesome.

Percy, surely one of the most forthright elected public officials Illinois has ever known, may have created two serious problems on his own through stands on two controversial issues.

His questioning of the rigid stand established by the present Israel government in the Midwest confrontation with the Arab states has aroused new irritation among Illinois Jewish voters.

Percy's refusal to follow the old political practice of publicly and frequently vowing all-out support for any stand any Israel government might take on any matter has caused him some problems in the past.

But he has been fairly successful in explaining his position to the Jewish community and appears to have won its respect, if not approval.

Earlier this summer, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Award from the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith of Chicago for his leadership on behalf of human rights.

Few would doubt Percy's professed belief that the preservation of Israel must be a firm commitment of the United States.

But there are differing views on how to assure Israel's preservation. It has become an emotional issue and the effect on next year's voting cannot be foreseen.

The senator may also have some problems with Illinois Catholic voters.

Springfield's Roman Catholic Bishop Joseph A. McNichols has criticized Percy — as well as U.S. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson — for his position on the abortion issue.

Both Percy and Stevenson have taken moderate stands on a proposed constitutional amendment to restrict abortion.

The bishop, like other Catholic leaders, vigorously supports all efforts to limit the increasing resort to abortions.

But even more so than in the Israel matter is a question as to whether Percy's attitude toward abortion will really hurt his re-election chances.

In recent years, practical politicians have increasingly discounted the importance of religious influence in elections.

As far as the abortion issue itself is concerned, it is an extremely emotional one. But one that some in politics doubt is causing the overwhelming mass of the electorate to any appreciable degree.

Candidates who have campaigned on the abortion issue have not done well.

Percy's big job to assure re-election is to convince his past great following of moderate Republicans and moderate Democrats plus the vital political independents, that he remains a hard-working senator who understands the major issues of our times and is sincere in trying to resolve them.

He is a political realist and knows that the easy campaign of six years ago against futile Democratic Congressman Roman Pucinski cannot be repeated.

There are those who believe he will face a challenge by the most formidable Democrat of them all, Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon, who himself won re-election by more than a million votes only last year.

In any event, a tough campaign lies ahead.

But Chuck Percy has always been a fighter.

Seek comments on guidelines for cereals in food program

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman has invited comment from the public in Illinois and elsewhere on proposals to set new guidelines for sugar, iron and vitamin content in cereals provided to participants in the special supplemental food program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC).

In Illinois, 38,204 women and infants receive supplemental foods at 77 clinics throughout the state. Illinois currently receives a monthly grant of $944,639 from the USDA to operate the program, at a cost of approximately $24.90 per individual.

In announcing final WIC program regulations today, Mrs. Foreman said the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) wants public comment on the sugar content of cereals approved for use in the WIC program.

She said the department is concerned about sugar's possible role in development of tooth decay, obesity and other health problems. USDA is also considering new guidelines for iron and vitamin content in WIC cereals, she added.

Assistant Secretary Foreman asked for comment on a USDA proposal to make the WIC program available to infants and children who come from low-income families. At present, infants and children must be determined to be at nutritional risk based on medical tests or their dietary patterns.

This has resulted in some low-income infants and children being declared ineligible for the program.

In asking for comment on this issue, Mrs. Foreman observed that some medical professionals feel low income by itself is an accurate indicator of nutrition need.

Assistant Secretary Foreman invited comments and suggestions in a third area how USDA can improve the delivery of WIC services to low-income persons in rural areas.

The Department wants to do a better job of serving the rural poor in all its food assistance efforts, she said.

The WIC program is run by local health or welfare agencies through their neighborhood clinics or offices. The program provides special foods to pregnant and nursing women, to infants, and to children up to 5 years old.

To be eligible, participants must be examined by a physician, nutritionist, nurse or other health or nutrition professional and found "at nutritional risk" because of poor diet and low income. The WIC program currently serves more than 886,000 women and children through over 600 local agencies.

WIC recipients are given a food package tailored to their specific nutrition needs. Infants get iron-fortified formula and cereal, and fruit juice high in vitamin C. Women, and children over one year old, get fortified milk, cheese, eggs, cereal high in iron, and fruit or vegetable juice high in vitamin C. These monthly food supplements are worth about $22 per recipient.

USDA had proposed in February to set a nationwide income standard for all participants in the WIC Program. Comments from health professionals and state and local WIC administrators convinced the department to delete this provision from the regulations and to withhold establishment of a national income standard at this time.

USDA plans to give further study to a nationwide income standard as it examines options for legislative proposals concerning the WIC Program. The department will present legislative recommendations to the Congress early next year.

Instead of a national standard, today's final regulations adopt a localized income eligibility test previously required by interim WIC regulations. Applicants age eligible if they meet income standards set by state or county health departments for free or reduced-price health programs.

Assistant Secretary Foreman said USDA adopted other changes suggested by comments, including a time limit for getting WIC foods to approved applicants. Local agencies will have to approve or deny a WIC application within 20 days, and provide food to eligible people within 10 days of approval.

USDA also modified a proposed requirement for uniform statewide food delivery systems. To allow for local flexibility, the final rules let the state use up to three systems — vouchers redeemable at food markets, direct distribution at the WIC clinic, or home delivery. Individual systems, however, have to be run uniformly throughout the states.

Other major provisions of the final regulations are largely unchanged from the proposed rules.

—Infants born to WIC mothers can remain on the program for six months before their nutritional status is assessed to see if they still need WIC foods. Before, assessment was made six weeks after birth.

—In selecting local agencies to run the WIC program, states must give top priority to those health agencies which can provide both health and administrative services.

—Local welfare agencies can contract with private physicians to provide the health services needed at a WIC clinic. This provision is intended to encourage WIC program expansion into areas without institutionalized health services, officials explained.

—Local agencies have the right to an administrative appeal when a state agency denies an application to operate a WIC Program. Food vendors disqualified from the program also have the right to an appeal.

The final regulations also tighten fiscal management and accountability, and set up a new system of management evaluation and reviews to monitor performance of state and local agencies.

The final regulations are scheduled to appear in the Federal Register of Aug. 26 and will take effect Sept. 26.

Comments on WIC cereals, eligibility for low-income infants and children, and on improved WIC services in rural areas should be sent to the Director, Special Supplemental Food Division (WIC), Food and Nutrition Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. To be considered, comments must be received no later than Oct. 10.

Sobol sues Telegraph

Granite City realtor John Sobol has filed a $15 million lawsuit against the Alton Telegraph and two reporters. The suit was filed in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville against the Alton Telegraph Printing Co. and Joseph Melosi and William Lhotka for allegedly publishing "false and defamatory letters" which are alleged to have harmed his business ventures.

The suit is the first filed by persons allegedly mentioned in reporters' letters which the Telegraph staff is said to have mailed to Brian Conboy of the Department of Justice in Washington, D. C. The letters allegedly suggested questionable connections with several area businessmen.

The first suit was filed this year by James Green, contractor and developer, and a second suit against the Telegraph, Melosi and Lhotka was filed by former Madison Mayor Raymond Kosielek.

The suit says Sobol first learned of the letters in January articles about Green's suit.

It contends that actions taken were so "reckless, malicious and careless that an award of punitive damages ought to be entered to punish their misconduct and as a deterrent to the recurrence of said conduct."

Sobol denies all the allegations. He seeks $5 million actual damages and $10 million punitive damages.

Sobol alleges that after the letters were mailed, he was unable to borrow funds for further developments and was forced to dispose of many valuable income properties, causing his obligations to exceed his assets.

He further alleges he was subjected to "ridicule and harassment by associates and various persons."

The suit says Sobol first learned of the letters in January articles about Green's suit.

It contends that actions taken were so "reckless, malicious and careless that an award of punitive damages ought to be entered to punish their misconduct and as a deterrent to the recurrence of said conduct."

Sobol denies all the allegations. He seeks $5 million actual damages and $10 million punitive damages.

5-year plates to be issued in March-November 1979

Illinois taxpayers will save $21 million with multi-year license plates over a five-year period beginning with 1979, Alan J. Dixon, secretary of state, stressed Wednesday in a luncheon address to the American Business Club of Danville.

"Legislation sponsored by my administration has been passed by the General Assembly and signed by the governor to allow multi-year license plates," Dixon noted. "The new law gives the secretary of state discretion to prescribe the term of years for a license plate registration to be valid."

"Although I could prescribe plates for three years or seven or any number, my decision has been to fix the validity of the new registration at five years. "In the first year, which will be the 1979 plate, the cost will be $6,239,000 higher than the old way. "But in the subsequent four years, we will save more than $27 million, providing us with a net saving of around $21 million for the five years. "Besides buying only one set of plates instead of five sets, we will save four million dollars in postage and make huge savings in warehousing, dead stock and personnel costs. "The new plate will be made of aluminum, 20 thousandths of an inch thick. "Aluminum does not rust. It is lighter than steel. It has recycle value. And it fluctuates in price less than steel. "The 1979-1983 plate will be four times stronger than the 1976 plate. The 'Scotch light' reflectorization will be improved. "In Minnesota, where the weather is rougher than ours, the plate proved it will last five years. "The 1979 plate will be renewed every year through 1983 with a renewal sticker to be affixed on the plate. "The color of the sticker will contrast with the plate to make it easier for law enforcement officers to determine a valid registration from a distance. "Multi-year registration also will make it easier for law enforcement officers to obtain up-to-date information on license registration from our computerized master files. It takes time for us to process new registrations into the computer. "We are planning to arrange for motorists to buy their licenses and stickers at staggered periods from March through November, with staggered expiration dates so they won't freeze their fingers putting them on in the dead of winter. "Staggering the registration periods works in other states. There is no reason it shouldn't work in Illinois. "We already stagger driver license renewals according to the driver's birthdate. It saves personnel costs by leveling out the flow of work. "In our office, we have new plans and new operations that will save money and improve services to the taxpayer. "We have a new merit code for personnel, instant issuance of photo driver licenses, and a photo identification card for non-drivers. "Our state government business is your business. With sound administration — with responsible cooperation between government, business and the public — we can continue reducing costs and keep solvent while providing better service," Dixon concluded.

SUMMER PAINT-UP PROGRAM nears an end, at the Tri-City area YMCA as workmen from Roseman Painting Co. put the finishing touches to the 'Y' entranceway. Major improvements during the summer included repainting of the gymnasium, installation of new lighting in the gymnasium and swimming pool renovations. Programs and activities are to resume Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Sign shop opens

A new sign shop to produce hand-lettered signs has been opened by Chris Meeks, Highland, on Route 3 at Nameoki Drive, it was announced Tuesday.

Meeks said he has been in that field of work for 19 years. The shop will be open daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Backache—everyone has it

(American Medical Association)

Oh, my aching back! How many times have you heard someone say that? Or said it yourself?

Backache is such a common ailment among civilized man that there are very few adults who haven't had a touch of it now and then.

Some physicians credit soft beds, soft chairs and other comforts of modern civilization with an increase in the number of persons suffering from low back pain, the American Medical Association points out.

Once called lumbago, back pain is often caused by poor posture, obesity, ill-fitting or inappropriate shoes, a sedentary life, overly strenuous work, or participating in sports. It may also be caused by disease not directly relating to the back, or to injury or strain.

Low back pain may occur at any age, but it seems to bother middle-aged persons most. It occurs in both sexes and in all races, and is more common among people who do work that requires stooping or lifting.

Good posture of the entire body is important in preventing

Arrow members to be honored

Five members of the Cahokia Lodge, Order of the Arrow, will be elevated to the Vigil Honor, the highest honor a member may receive, at the group's fall convocation.

The convocation will be held at Camp Sunen, near Potosi, Mo., on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 9, 10 and 11.

The Order of the Arrow is a National Brotherhood of Honor Campers within the Boy Scouts of America.

The Cahokia Lodge has 350

Amvets to fly flags

Granite City Amvets Post 51 will fly American flags along Madison Avenue on Labor Day Monday, Sept. 5, it was announced by Post Commander John Logan in a meeting at the Post Home.

The Amvets Auxiliary will serve a 5 a.m. breakfast to the members who will hang the flags.

Commander Logan also announced the group will hold a fund-raising project on Saturday, Sept. 24, with Third Vice-Commander Clay Warner as chairman.

Logan said that donations will be coming in for John Cochran Veterans Hospital.

The group's meeting was closed with a prayer by Chaplain Ray Winton and the flag was retired by Provost Marshall J. R. Wilkins.

Girl, 16, held in check case

A 16-year-old girl on parole from the Illinois State Training School for Girls at Geneva was being held this week for Department of Corrections' officers after she allegedly was involved in a theft and forgery incident in Pontoon Beach during the weekend.

The girl was recognized Monday by a Granite City police officer and ran away, but later was found at a residence in the Kirkpatrick Homes.

Police said the girl allegedly stole a purse belonging to a Pontoon Beach woman who was sleeping when the theft took place.

An attempt was made to cash a $50 check at a service station, where the operator knew both the girl and woman and noticed the signature was inaccurate.

Suit for injuries

Richard Nance has filed a two-count suit seeking $50,000 in each count from Leo Wolfe Construction Co., from a June 9 accident in which Nance contends a scaffolding fell on him while working on additions to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

In the suit, Nance says he was employed as a steelworker by Independent Steel Erectors under contract to Wolfe Construction when his work called for him to move a scaffolding and some boards fell and struck him, injuring his neck and shoulders.

Mrs. Hudson elected to Channel 9 board

The St. Louis Regional Educational and Public Television Commission elected new officers at its late August board meeting. They are: Edwin J. Putzell Jr., chairman; Dr. Everett Walters and J. Arthur Baer II, vice-chairmen; Archie Walker, secretary, and Andrew Baur, treasurer.

Putzell became vice chairman of the board in 1974 and has been a member of the board since 1972. Baer served on the board from 1971 to 1973 and returned in 1975.

Dr. Walters has been a member of the board since 1972. Walker has begun his second term as secretary; he has been a member of the board since 1974. Baur begins his second term as treasurer and has been a member of the board since 1975.

The commission, licensee of Channel 9, elected nine new board members at the annual meeting, increasing the size of the board to 19 members.

The new members are: Julian Edison, president of the Edison Brothers Shoe Stores; Robert White, publisher of the Mexico (Mo.) Ledger; Mrs. Howard Woods of the St. Louis Sentinel; Mrs. Greta Forrester, former president of the Junior League; William Coday, Ralston-Purina; Hiram Neuwohner, president of Batz, Hodgson and Neuwohner; Father Luke Rigby, head of Priory School; H. Parker Smith, senior vice-president of Boatmen's Bank; and Mrs. Mary Lou Hudson, a Granite City teacher who has worked extensively in the area of handicapped education.

Board members whose terms expired were Lucille Davis, Rosalind Harris and Cathryn Mason.

gestation were cited in a report by Dr. Harry W. Parks, who conducted the autopsy.

The physician noted a four-centimeter tear on the anterior lower segment of the uterus, and 2,000 cc. of fresh blood and hematomas in the uterus, pelvis and retroperitoneal.

A 2.8 cm. length of the fetal spinal column was present along with the face, less the crown. Dr. Parks certified. Various ways of estimating the infant reflected conception at least 14 to 16 weeks earlier and probably 16 to 18 weeks, he said.

Eleven weeks had been estimated at the out-patient clinic after examination and interview of the patient. Illinois law requires that any abortions after 12 weeks take place at an in-patient hospital.

Dr. Parks related, "According to the coroner, this young woman had an abortion performed on the morning of June 14 in Granite City. On the trip home, she was complaining of weakness."

"She went to bed upon arrival and was found by members of her family apparently moribund. She was pronounced dead-on-arrival at Pinckneyville Community Hospital."

At the press conference, it was asserted that clinics have been successful in educating high schools and plan on working toward better communications with junior high schools.

It was alleged that emphasis is being placed on serving teenagers, with attention called to a law under which those 14 or older can be assisted without their parents being notified.

Girls and young women from wide areas of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and Kentucky are said to travel here.

Mrs. Goeken sees such an emphasis as legal but inappropriate, and her organizations have been seeking changes in laws and court rulings.

She said she wants the Illinois Department of Public Health to beef up its adherence to the standard that patients receiving abortions should be observed "for a period of time sufficient to ensure that no immediate post-operative complications are present."

Moderator of the news conference held Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Mrs. Goeken said efforts are likely to be made to secure new federal legislation as well as to secure a right-to-life amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Dr. P. J. McFarlane of St. Joseph's Hospital, Alton, noted the possibility of internal bleeding occurring after an abortion.

John A. Bock Jr., a Belleville attorney, said a wrongful death suit will be filed in the Third Judicial Circuit in Madison County, probably next week.

Factors cited by Bock are determination of the age of a pregnancy, the site chosen for an abortion, the necessity to remove all of the tissue of a fetus, the need to avoid laceration of a uterus, and the advisability of having a surgical patient rest and remain under observation for a long period afterward.

Mrs. Jo Higgins, Belleville, president of National Nurses for Life, described advantages of a hospital setting for surgery.

It was noted that Mr. and Mrs. David Davis had been separated for only a short time prior to the abortion. Those filing suit may include the husband, the three-year-old son and the mother of Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Joan Thern.

Assistant Madison County State's Attorney Joe Brown said this week his office is studying the case.

All Hope Clinic representatives contacted have declined comment.

REINHARDT—Realtor
Sells—BETTER LIVING!

Don't give in to despair, anxiety

By REV. W. LEE
TRUMAN

Sometime ago, I had surgery for a ruptured spinal disc. It had caused me a great deal of pain and partial paralysis.

Now, several years later, I have perfect mobility, and am looking forward to some great skiing this winter, providing there is snow on the slopes.

The physical problems have not been nearly as difficult as the mental battles. For one, my church has been through a building program, and it needed every ounce of energy I could give it to make this church and its dream come into being.

Through this personal experience, I now have a checklist to fight both my depression and my anxiety. I believe these have laid most of my people low than any amount of back trouble.

The first is to accept the fact that worry and anxiety can be the most destructive enemy in the human personality. This is the most life-deceiving habit that any of us can allow. Be aware that worry can become a habit. It is a habit long enough, it becomes part of one's character.

Marcus Aurelius, the ancient Latin scholar, warns in his famous "Meditations," "The soul is dyed the color of its thoughts."

The best defense against worry is to practice the art of forgetting at least twice a day, preferably in the early morning and the late evening, and repeat one of the sure lessons there is for mental health. It is offered to us in Holy Scripture by a man who was facing death.

Paul wrote, "Forgetting these things which are behind and reaching for those things which are before, I press toward the mark and the high calling."

Fill your mind every day, and consciously choose the affirmation of your faith in your future and the world's future. Make this the habit of your thinking for your life. If your soul is to be dyed with the good hues and the glad colors.

The best insight was given to me in the writings of William Jennings, a very perceptive psychologist who wrote, "The essence of genius is to know what to overlook."

In other words, learn what to pass by and what to forget. You can't have everything and you can't do everything. Picking out the important things is basically the essence of genius.

Next, build for yourself inside of your own mind, a place of quiet impenetrability. The President of the United States, the head of a large corporation, or the admiral of a modern flagship, each has a place which could best be called a "silence room."

There, strategy, in plainness and directions and consequences are thought through.

If you have this in your own mind, where whatever stress might be pushing you, and if you can keep this spot quiet while you objectively think through your plans, your life may not be free from harassment, but you will be.

Underscore and commit to memory the great passages in the Bible. Be able to call quickly to mind those words of simple trust, words which are affirmation of your worth, and the care that is assured to you by Scripture and forms the "ground of your being."

After that, learn how to step into a mental shower and clear out of your thinking all of the dirt, dust, and mud that it has gathered throughout the day. Clean your mind of all the anxiety, fear, and insecurity that "cause bad mental and spiritual health."

Nature abhors a vacuum, so choose what will fill your mind. Choose the positive thoughts that will lead you into the affirmation of life. For me it is, "God fills my mind with peace, courage, and determination when I let Him, and I believe with all my soul that He hears my prayers."

Remember I then wrapped up in himself makes a very small package. Become a part of activities which will bring a sense of belonging to a group and meet your responsibilities to that group. Be a part of something larger than yourself.

The final step is the most important. Build, and work out for yourself, an affirming faith and wind which will plant a sense of purpose, meaning and direction in the very act and essence of living for you.

Father of GC women dies

Ray Willman, 52, of Jerseyville, Ill., father of Mrs. Nellie Williams of Granite City, died at 9:10 p.m. Monday at the Jersey Community Hospital.

He was a retired farmer and had been ill for a long time. Mr. Willman was born in New Orleans and formerly resided in Nebo, Ill. A member of the Church of Christ, Mr. Willman also belonged to the American Legion. He was a veteran of World War I.

Other survivors include two sons, Herman of Hardin, Ill., and Everett of Walkerville, Ill.; four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted at 1:30 p.m. today at a funeral home in Pleasant Hill, Ill., with the Rev. Wilson Ramsey officiating. Burial was in Crescent Heights Cemetery.

CHARGE YOUTH 16

Responding to a call that two youths were looking into cars in the 2900 block of Faith street at 4 a.m. Wednesday, police took into custody a 16-year-old youth who had a hatch in his possession and charged him with disorderly conduct and curfew violation. The second youth fled between two houses on a bicycle, which later was found abandoned.

Mrs. Myrtle Behr, 83, dies

Mrs. Myrtle N. (Moore) Behr, 83, of 2920 East 22nd St., ill for two years, died at 10:10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital where she had been a patient for 10 days. She was born in St. Louis and resided in the Quad-Cities for 60 years.

Her husband, Frank Behr, died in 1950.

Mrs. Behr has no known survivors. She was a friend of Mrs. Elvira Thurber.

Annexed by Pontoon

Two more parcels of property along Highway 182 were annexed by the Pontoon Beach Village Board during a special meeting Tuesday evening.

Parcels annexed were those of Kenneth and Shirley Carver, Rural Route One, Box 362 and 365. They adjoin the property of Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Frank Mehele

News notes

President Carter said Tuesday that a pay hike will be granted in October to white-collar federal employees and members of the armed forces. The amount is indefinite but may be about seven per cent.

The American Hospital Association on Tuesday adopted a universal health insurance plan calling for the government and the private sector to share 50-50 the cost of providing health care. Senators' proposals have listed 80 per cent from the government. Health cards not specifying one's income would be used; after health services are received, any cost-sharing would be settled between the patient and the insurer.

The President yesterday called for strict enforcement of the 55 miles per hour speed limit as a fuel-saving measure.

The Carter administration is developing anti-inflation proposals but denies that the government is imposing controls on wages and prices.

The U.S. Interior Department this week conditionally approved tapping oil shale for energy.

The government is studying whether flame-retardant T-shirts can harm the reproductive systems of boys who wear sleeping garments treated with it.

Pres. Carter is proposing new financial incentives in Northern Ireland if opposing factions there make peace. Regarding strife and looting in some U.S. cities, he has ordered an urgent review of federal urban policy.

The White House is considering using young people as volunteer detectives to pinpoint energy waste.

State authorities said Wednesday they plan to begin checking motorists to determine whether they possess valid driver's licenses.

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council yesterday set a proposed 1978 budget of $2,307,150, well below the 1977 figure of $3,294,500. Adoption is scheduled for a Sept. 28 meeting, at which a Year 2000 land use plan also will be considered for adoption.

Belleville East and West high schools opened today, three days late, following reaching of an agreement with teachers yesterday.

State Sen. James H. Donawald (D., Breese) said Tuesday he won't seek reelection in 1978. Those studying whether to run for the Senate in that district include Madison County Recorder of Deeds Ronald Lucas of Marysville and Sen. Frankson, a member of the Madison County Board.

Her husband, Frank Behr, died in 1950.

Mrs. Behr has no known survivors. She was a friend of Mrs. Elvira Thurber.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Corrections report favorable to juvenile detention home

A report generally favorable of the facilities and operations at the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home in Edwardsville has been released by the Illinois Department of Corrections after the annual DOC inspection of the facility. DOC officials are to meet with county officials within 60 days to discuss the report and its recommendations.

The report noted most of the recommendations made after last year's inspection have been complied with, but listed 16 items not in compliance with state standards.

Officers delivering juveniles to the intake officer do not always submit a report containing the details of the alleged offense and youths are not given receipts for their personal property, the report noted.

School is conducted only from Aug. 15 to June 15, rather than all year, as required. It also noted the facility fails to aid of routine isolation of juveniles when first admitted to the facility.

Recommendations include first aid training for all staff members; putting the staff under a merit system, providing a secure firearms depository area for officers' weapons while they are in the center, and an emergency plan which includes procedures during bomb threats.

It also recommends that "status offenders" not be detained in the juvenile detention home. A DOC official said status offenders are youths not accused of actions for which adults would be prosecuted. Included are runaways, curfew violators and juveniles "otherwise in need of supervision."

Other recommendations deal with bookkeeping, records and cleanup needs. It was noted the inspectors interviewed six youths at random and all said they were receiving good treatment in the facility.

Improvements in the past year include job descriptions and evaluations for all staff members; consultation with a doctor before dispensing any medications; security covers on individual room lights, and volunteers conducting program activities.

Other improvements include updating of the manual of procedures; youths signing for personal property when released; barbed wire stop a chain-link fence to keep non-confined youths out of the recreation area, and coaks wearing hairnets.

Missing floor tile has been replaced, the incinerator flue has been repaired, and graffiti markings have been removed from room walls, all since the last inspection, it was noted in the report.

The document showed a wide variety of activities offered to the youths, good psychological counseling, adequate security facilities (except for lack of a separate isolation room), good food, planning and adequate record keeping (except as recommended.)

Steel dividend

Directors of National Steel Corporation, meeting in Pittsburgh, have declared a dividend of 62½ cents per share for the third quarter of 1977. The dividend will be payable Sept. 15, to stockholders of record Sept. 6.

THE DECISION MAKERS of Chouteau Township government are the members of the board of trustees, shown during the board's regular meeting Monday night. Venice ok's seniors program

The Venice City Council Tuesday night authorized use of $2,000 to be matched with funds from Belleville Area College (BAC) for a senior citizen employment program.

The program would allow the senior citizens to work 20 hours a week at approved jobs that will not endanger them or tax their health.

The date the program is to begin has not been established.

"This will create about five or six more jobs for our senior citizens," Mayor William Ebersold said. "I would like the senior citizen's committee to follow through with the college representatives and get the program set up as soon as possible."

"As soon as we get all the particulars worked out as to jobs and how everything will work, we can then see who is interested."

In other action the council approved a building permit for Willie L. Mosby to construct a carport at 1129 Douglas St.; granted a request from Mrs. Claude Bilbrey for a new rooster for the senior citizens; authorized three policemen to attend a meeting of the Illinois Police Association in Chicago Sept. 18, 19, and 20, and three police to attend the Police Benevolent Association meeting in Springfield, Oct. 2, 3, and 4, with $300 allowed each police officer for expenses.

"There is a meeting in Edwardsville on Wednesday, Sept. 7 to let us know about the new requirements and changes in regulations on Community Development funds and projects," Mayor Ebersold said.

"We want to be sure and get up there. According to the letter I received we can get everything explained anytime between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., or after 7 p.m. that night. I feel this will be important," Ebersold said.

"I want to remind the aldermen that we need to get started with our sidewalk and demolition programs. I hope everyone will have their projects and are ready before next meeting so this can get moving," Ebersold emphasized.

It was noted by Alderman John Ervin that something had to be done soon about the fire department floor. "We can't put this off much longer. The trucks can't sit outside in the winter and after the new floor is put in it will be two or three weeks before the trucks can be put back inside," Ervin emphasized.

The council accepted and placed on file the audit of the Motor Fuel tax funds for 1976. According to the audit, all funds were properly accounted for.

Richard Gonterman, office manager for the McKinley bridge, reported, "Since the new FA 151 has opened in mid-August our vehicles crossing the bridge have increased by about 1,000 per day."

"This is good, and I think as people from the Alton and Hartford areas realize how quick it is by our bridge, the traffic will increase even more."

We already have added some new trucking lines to our bridge," Mayor Ebersold said. The council named Alderman Tyrone Echols as the official voting delegate, with Alderman Tom Voegelé as alternate, to attend the Sept. 23, 24 and 25 Municipal League meeting in Chicago.

Alderman Hank A. Svezia said, "I have a couple of things to bring up. First, I think we should do something about the speed limit on Broadway. If we can't reduce it, we can enforce it better."

"Second, regarding the work the utility company is doing on Klein Street, I hope our superintendent of streets will make sure that the place is cleaned up and the ground properly seeded when they are done."

Train engine hits auto, driver hurt

Walter E. MacPherson of East St. Louis sustained minor injuries at 9:15 p.m. Tuesday when the 1975 Buick he was driving was struck by the engine of a train going west across Edwardsville Road from the Granite City Steel blast furnace.

MacPherson, who suffered cuts to his hands but refused medical treatment here, said he had stopped for one train and after the engine had backed up, he started across the tracks only to be struck by another train traveling west. Frank Ronco of Litchfield, train engineer, said the signal lights were flashing at the railroad crossing. The motorist was traveling north on Edwardsville Road at the time.

Thurber named exec. producer

Jerry Thurber, a native of Granite City, has been named executive producer at KGGM-TV, the CBS-affiliate station in Albuquerque, N. M., where he will assume his new duties Tuesday.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. (Elvira) Thurber, 2710 Grand Ave. Thurber has been employed as a producer at Channel 19, the ABC television affiliate in Peoria, for the past three years. Previously, he was a newscaster and reporter at a Rockford (Ill.) television station.

He is a 1958 graduate of Granite City High School South and attended Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. Thurber and his wife, the former Shirley Gentry of Decatur, are the parents of two daughters, Diane, 12, and Suzanne, 7.

Motorist hurt

A collision on Madison Avenue at 27th Street Monday involved vehicles operated by William J. Zinn, 3228 Newell Drive, and Lester B. Sullivan, 1716 Ferguson Ave. Zinn was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital and treated for a fracture of the left wrist before being released.

BURGLAR TAKES GUITAR

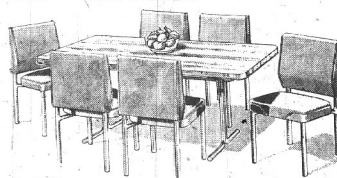

A six-string 'Gibson guitar was taken from a bedroom in a bungalow at the home of Bob Mathias, 3156 Rodger Ave., reported at 12:55 p.m. Tuesday.

$50,000 bond set for rape suspect

Daniel Lee Wright, 43, St. Louis, has been charged with rape and aggravated battery and was taken to the Madison County jail Wednesday after Associate Judge A. A. Matosian set bond at $50,000. Wright, along with an unidentified man, allegedly brought a 36-year-old St. Louis woman to an old boat ramp on the Mississippi river front where she allegedly was beaten and raped.

The incident which took place about 5:30 a.m. Sunday, was reported to Venice police at 11:06 a.m. by St. Louis police detectives who came back to the scene with the woman. Since the tract of land where the incident allegedly took place was in the City of Madison, the Madison Police were notified. Police found several items at the scene, including a torn purse, wallet, head scarf and other pieces of torn clothing identified as belonging to the victim, officers reported. The woman said she was in a South Side St. Louis bar when she was picked up by two men and forcibly driven to this side of the river. She reportedly got the license number of the car and reported the incident to St. Louis police. Wright was arrested Tuesday at his home by St. Louis police. Madison Chief of Police Donald L. Bridick, met representatives of the Fugitive and Sex Crimes division of the St. Louis police who informed Bridick Wright had waived extradition. Chief Bridick brought Wright back to Madison for a hearing before Judge Matosian.

January. The actions taken Monday night "speed up" the placing of the two officials in their new posts, because of Mr. Reeves' death. Trustee Tommy Johnson commented, "Everyone seems to be chipping away at township government now and I do not feel we should further weaken it by leaving vacant positions." Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks said he has consulted attorneys and officials on the county level and noted, "It appears the majority feel it would be proper to appoint the collector and assessor now." "We hoped to let this lie until they were to officially take office, but it now appears we need an assessor because people are coming to me with questions and I can't answer them," Sparks added. In changing positions, Lexow will receive a $2,000 increase in salary, from $6,000 per year to $8,000 per year, the salary formerly received by Mr. Reeves. The board decided to break the annual salary into monthly pay, so Lexow will receive $666.66 per month as assessor. Since he already has been paid his $6,000 annual salary as collector (equal to $500 per month), he will receive only the difference of $166.66 per month for the last four months of this year. Lexow's resignation and the concurrence in his appointment as assessor were approved unanimously by the board, as was Bedwell's appointment.

CAR FOUND BURNED

A 1971 Pontiac reported stolen at 9 p.m. Tuesday from the parking area at 4000 Sara Ave., an apartment complex, was found destroyed by fire in the Lebanon (Ill.) area by an Illinois State trooper at 12:30 a.m. Wednesday. The vehicle belongs to Gert L. Reisinger, 4000 Sara.

Palms 23st. "... the Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want." The tender compassionate 23rd Psalm. What a comfort it has been down through the ages. "The Lord is my shepherd." My shepherd. He is your shepherd. A personal Savior, a personal God! Don't be misled into believing that God has bunched all of his followers into one camp and there ministers to them as He has time. He is as close as the next prayer you breathe! He matters not to God if fifty million prayers are spoken at once. He is omnipresent and hears every one of them. I know this, every prayer that is prayed out of the heart is always answered. As my shepherd and yours, He watches over us every hour of every day.

May I ask you now if He is your shepherd? Have you committed your life to Him? To open your heart and accept Christ is as simple as saying, Lord, have mercy on me, a sinner. Forgive me of my sins, come into my heart and take my life. I believe it is done.

Why not do it Today.

Steel

supply and price of steel which will be available to their respective economies. First, analysis must give consideration to the unique characteristics of the steel industry. First, it supplies a product vital to any industrialized economy. No modern nation, for security reasons alone, would be willing to rely exclusively on foreign sources for a large portion of its steel. Second, the amount of capital necessary to build and maintain a domestic steel industry is large and often exceeds the level that private sources are willing to invest. Thus government involvement, both direct and indirect, is a common occurrence in the world steel industry. Third, because of its early position in the overall production process, the steel industry is more influenced by economic fluctuations than most industries. There are several levels of inventory adjustment that amplify normal economic cycles for the steel industry. Finally, it is important to understand the lead times needed to install steelmaking capacity. Several years are needed to engineer and install new capacity at an existing facility, and five years or more may be needed for "greenfield" additions. Any miscalculation in capacity planning that results in a steel shortage cannot be quickly corrected. The growth of steel imports during the 1960s constrained the growth of shipments by U.S. producers, thereby inhibiting productivity improvement, profitability, and investment in new capacity. Faced with a new wave of import penetration in the late 1970s, a similar result is likely. Therefore, if U.S. customers want more imports in the short run, they must also be willing to accept the consequences of greater reliance on offshore sources in the long run. Specifically, further import penetration will inevitably undermine the ability of the U.S. steel industry to fill any void created by a reduced supply of imports under shortage conditions. In addition to the potential economic impact of a future shortage, our national policy on steel trade should also give consideration to some of the more immediate consequences of a rising level of steel imports on jobs and trade balance. Regardless of the short-run bargain we may be getting on imported steel, the behavior of world steel producers reveals two realities about which we can be fairly certain in the future. First, foreign producers in times of excess supply will sell steel in the U.S. at prices which domestic producers cannot meet and still fulfill the profit and capital formation requirements of operating in the U.S. political and economic system. Therefore, in the absence of a coordinated policy to the contrary, the U.S. economy will become increasingly dependent upon imported steel during the period 1977-80. Second, the impact of a future steel shortage under conditions of heavy reliance on imported steel would be intolerable, given any reasonable alternative. Even if the nation is willing to accept the major losses of steelworker employment and adverse pressure on our trade balances, which greater dependence on imported steel would entail, the ultimate risk to the U.S. economy inherent in this dependence is unacceptable.

of his attorney, he said. Seen going into the grand jury area at Aug. 1 and 22 sessions were Deputies Larry Bull, Randall Lamb and his wife, Pat, Tom Hammond, Richard Anderson and Paul Earhart. Earhart and Anderson were seen near the grand jury chambers yesterday and were believed to have offered additional testimony. Also seen going into the grand jury chambers yesterday was Granite City Police Detective Don Knight, who refused to comment on which case he testified. He was an investigator in the recovery of stolen office equipment on Grand Avenue.

Project Venice tax hike

An increase of 7.4 cents per $100 assessed valuation in the 1977 tax rate for the city of Venice was projected by Venice city officials Tuesday night as council members adopted a new levy calling for $446,100 in tax funds.

The 1977 tax rate would be applied to bills collected in 1978. If the projected increases holds true, the Venice city rate would jump to an estimated $1.65 per $100 assessed valuation. The 1976 rate on which bills were paid this year was $1.576.

City Comptroller Carl Byrnes told the aldermen that the rising tax rate in the city of Venice is due to a constantly declining property assessment which fell $3,619,560 during the 1976 tax year to a new total of $30,029,742. For 1975 the city's assessed valuation totaled $33,649,110.

Much of the assessment loss has occurred in downward adjustments of property valuations of the Union Electric Co. and the Consolidated Aluminum Co. which lies partly in Venice, Byrnes said.

Assessments in the city of Venice in 1974 amounted to $36,729,201. On this basis, the city has lost $6,699,459 in property valuations during the past two years, with even further losses anticipated in assessment computations later this year.

The new tax levy calls for $446,100 in the general corporate fund after deducting $249,300 in cash balances and anticipated revenue and another $177,269 in deficiencies in the appropriation bill.

A tax levy of $30,000 for street purposes and $40,500 for police protection also are included in the bill approved by the council. For street lighting the levy calls for $16,000 in tax funds, while a levy of $1,200 is included for auditing the city's financial records.

A total of $43,200 is levied for fire protection and $54,000 is levied for garbage collection.

For the purpose of paying police pensions, the council levied $74,500, while taxes for firemen's pensions were levied at $40,500.

A total of $57,000 was levied for payment of municipal retirement fees for city employees. Other levy items included $1,100 for "emergency services" and $3,944 for payment of a court claim.

Taxes provided by the levy will apply toward a budget of $1.3 million adopted by the city early in August. In addition to tax monies raised by the levy, the city also receives allocations from the state income tax fund, the state sales tax fund and motor fuel tax funds, and from sale of licenses and other city fees.

Mrs. Stella Rust dies here

Mrs. Stella Rust, 86, of 2509 Madison Ave., a 77-year resident of Granite City, died at 5:20 p.m. Monday at the Colman Nursing Home.

Disaster aid

John Blasingame, general chairman of the annual fund campaign, announced that a Sept. 26 breakfast at the Granite City Army Installation will launch the drive.

Report luncheons are planned Oct. 12, 19 and 26. Divisions have progressed on schedule in recruiting campaign account leaders and solicitors, Blasingame said. A $508,250 goal has been established by the United Way board.

Rohrs reported that a Manpower grant is enabling a study to be made of state-federal funding available to UW member agencies.

Another phase of the special study is intended to aid in defining and announcing sources of help for types of needs encountered by people of various walks of life and ages.

Formation of a Madison County Urban League was noted by Rohrs. The group and a St. Clair County League replace the former two-county organization.

An administrative budget was outlined by Thomas J. Hewitt, and approved for the 1978 calendar year.

David Fox reviewed seminars held this summer to assist community service agencies in setting priorities and in planning responses to current and future trends affecting specific present or new services.

T. S. Harris dies today

Thomas Sylvester Harris, 64, of 2111 Hildebrand Ave., Madison, a retired pipefitter, died at 6:56 a.m. today at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

He retired six years ago at Granite City Steel after 23½ years of service.

Mr. Harris was born in Bonnet Terre, Mo., and was a resident of the Quad Cities for 62 years.

He had been ill six years and was hospitalized three weeks. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. LaVerna Harris; three daughters, Mrs. Luig (Shirley) Tomassella and Mrs. Oliver (Dorothy) Wood, both of St. Louis, and Mrs. Mary Layton of Madison; one son, Thomas E. Harris of Madison; two brothers, Wilburn Harris of Madison and Virgil Harris of Granite City, and five grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Arson suspected at 14th-Grand

A fire at a two-story frame structure at 1400 Grand Ave., occurring Monday, obviously was set, fire department officials said today.

The unoccupied building, owned by Norman Stawar, do not coincide with those of the conference committee. Head complained that her delegation and representatives were frozen out of meetings and their resolutions ignored. Also, they said that long lines for voting and overlapping luncheon meetings were unfair to their members. Paper ballots were also contested.

The Albany convention, like the IWY meeting in Mexico City, was hit by an unexpectedly large turnout. From three to four thousand persons had indicated that they would be attending, but by the end of the last day, registration, 8,500 had signed in. By the end of the weekend, it was estimated that between 11,000 and 13,000 women swarmed the New York capital mall in Albany.

According to the organizers of the Women's Conference, every attempt was made to include women of all persuasions, and not just radical feminists. Operation Wake Up was notified in advance, claimed the spokesperson for the Women's Conference, and invited to send volunteers to organizational meetings. "But many of the groups didn't send anyone. The conference was planned and put on by volunteer committees."

Though the meeting was well publicized, the Women's Conference organizers report that of the over 8,000 registered voters, only about 1,000 were associated with Operation Wake Up and IWY Grass Roots Majority. "The Wake Up organization hired a parliamentarian, a man from Philadelphia, who attended all plenary sessions, and systematically challenged proceedings," explained the spokesperson for the Conference.

Conflict predicted for fall conference

By JANET LOWE

Throughout the summer of 1977, American women have been convening in 56 different cities, voting on resolutions and electing representatives to this fall's National Women's Conference in Houston, Tex.

Many women, who either enjoyed the International Women's Year convalesce in Mexico City in 1975, or who were baffled by it, will be looking to Houston to see what happens when a more homogeneous collection of women from one country meets.

How consumers choose products

By RUBY SEKTON

Many consumers have a strong preference for one brand over another. Some are so convinced the name brand they favor is better that they insist on it even if another brand happens to be on sale at a much lower price.

But those choices may be based more on subconscious psychological factors and the cumulative effects of a lifetime of advertising conditioning than on actual differences in the quality of the products, a Temple University study indicates.

The 51 volunteers who took part in the study tested four brands of a number of common products.

When the brands were not identified, most gave totally different preferences from the rankings they assigned when given the brand names of the same products.

The products tested, either by taste or touch, were peanut butter, cola drinks, orange juice, milk, butter, margarine (none of the testers could distinguish between the two) and toilet paper.

In listing preferences by brand name, the volunteers tended to rank the well-known brands first, said Dr.

John L. Stanton, a consumer behavior specialist who directed the study. In choosing by taste or touch, they frequently reversed their preferences and ranked "house brands" first, he said.

In a second test to determine how many of the volunteers could correctly identify by taste or touch the brands they had named as their favorites, the percentages able to do so were, for cola, 23; peanut butter, 20; butter or margarine, 21; milk, 18; and toilet paper, 30.

Complaints from customers about unsatisfactory mail-order products or products that were ordered but never received can help to assure that some would-be buyers get their money back.

More than $5.5 million was restored to victims of mail fraud last year and the figure for this year will probably run higher, says Chief Postal Inspector C. Neil Benson.

Following a number of accidents in which heavy trash bins have tipped over, usually on small children, the Consumer Product Safety Commission has decided to ban large, unstable trash containers.

The commission said the bins, which hold more than a cubic yard of material, are a hazard. The commission studied 19 accidents involving 21 victims, 15 of whom were killed. Most of the accidents involved slant-sided bins used by rear- and side-loaded trucks.

An estimated 638,000 to 716,000 of the bins are in use and many can be modified to meet safety standards, the commission said. The commission made the ban effective in June, 1978, to give owners of the bins time to modify them.

To gain approval, a container must remain upright when either a horizontal force of 70 pounds or a vertical force of 19 pounds is applied.

Outrage against rapists increases

By JANET LOWE
Susan Brownmiller, author of the book, "Against Our Will," claims that rape is "nothing more or less than a conscious process of intimidation by which all men keep women in a state of fear."

The purpose of that fear, according to Brownmiller, is, among other things, to enforce conformity, restrict the mobility, freedom and power of women... in short, to keep women in their places.

If there is such a conspiracy, it has been reinforced recently by a Wisconsin judge who ruled some weeks ago that a boy who raped a schoolgirl was reacting "normally" to the provocative clothing that women wear.

It was further nailed in place by a California Court of Appeals judge, who overturned the conviction of an accused rapist on the grounds that a lone female hitchhiker advises all who pass by that she "has less concern for the consequences than the average female."

These two decisions have inflamed the anti-rape battle that rages not only in the United States, but in Italy, Britain, Australia and dozens of other countries.

Not only did the judges place on the victims the responsibility for the acts of the aggressor, but they performed other gymnastics of logic as well.

The opinion that wearing provocative clothing invites rape can lead to other conclusions.

Maybe the judge would think a woman invites rape when she wears a pretty dress and high-heeled shoes. She is certainly trying to look attractive, for there is no other justification for high-heeled shoes.

But how high is provocative? Which dress is provocative?

What about males? Is it all right to attack a man who appears in public wearing out-cut jeans? Gentlemen didn't used to dress like that.

As for hitchhiking, we all know it is dangerous in the United States. Yet in Ireland this summer we saw mothers with children, middle-aged men in business suits, elderly ladies with shopping bags, hitchhiking. It's sad that in America it isn't safe to offer or accept a ride. Even so, if a hitchhiker is robbed or murdered, the aggressor is not considered from his crime simply because the victim is a hitchhiker. Hitchhiking, after all, is simply a request for transportation.

There are some things a woman can do to protect herself from a rapist, whether he is met on the highway or in the elevator of a building. The Palo Alto (Calif.) Commission on Rape, despite advice to the contrary from police departments, recently encouraged women to train in martial arts, to carry aerosol cans, and in some cases, to arm themselves with weapons.

Brownmiller insists that rapists continue to commit rape, because they continue to get away with it.

Though she didn't get nearly as much publicity as the judges in Michigan and California, Judge Betty D. Friedman of Ithaca, N.Y., recently sentenced a 14-year-old boy to serve the maximum three-year sentence for his conviction of rape to "serve as a symbol of public outrage."

The youth had served time already for a previous rape, and admitted to raping, sodomizing and robbing two women at knifepoint near the Cornell University campus.

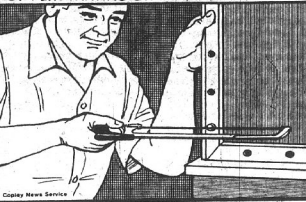

A third resource available to women, and one that seems dangerous to society as old-fashioned lynchings, vendettas and citizen's posses, is one that is becoming more common — retaliation.

Several months ago I wrote a newspaper column asking women to express their opinions about retaliation against rapists, such as the killings associated with Joan Little, Inez Garcia and half a dozen other women around the nation.

Hundreds of letters came from women of every region of the United States. The writers represented a wide range of backgrounds, some had been rape victims. Every letter, without exception, indicated that if law officers

Putterin' Pete

A BOLT STEM, THE HEAD OF WHICH HAS BEEN ACCIDENTALLY SHEARED OR BROKEN OFF, CAN BE REMOVED BY CUTTING A SLOT ACROSS THE FACE WITH A HACKSAW. A SCREWDRIVER THEN WILL TAKE OUT THE SHAFT. A SHOT OF PENETRATING OIL MAY HELP.

County News Service and the courts could not or would not enforce the law then women had a moral right to strike back. The rage and sense of injustice expressed in the letters was astounding.

"There's no doubt about it. I would kill anyone that raped my little girl," wrote one woman from Texas. She sounded as if she meant every word.

It would be a sorry thing, if in a nation like ours that prizes itself on insuring each citizen life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, women were forced to turn to anarchy to obtain safe passage. Hopefully, this problem can be solved legally, and with dignity.

Werths infant is stillborn

Andrew Werths, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Janet Werths, 338 Wabash Ave., was stillborn at 8:14 p.m. Monday at St. John Mercy Hospital, St. Louis.

Other survivors include two sisters, Beth and Sarah Werths, both at home and grandparents, Mrs. Irma Werths and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson (Frieda) Andrews, all of Granite City.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

LINT IN DRIER BURNS

Lint in a clothes drier ignited in the basement of an apartment building at 3215 Maryville Road at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday. The blaze had been extinguished when firemen arrived.

Charged in stabbing

Tommie Hughes, 20, of 945 Niedringhaus Ave., was charged with aggravated battery after allegedly stabbing Ramon Rutledge Jr., 24, of 228 E. 27th St., at Niedringhaus Avenue and Chestnut Street at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Rutledge said he had just left a Lincoln Place tavern and was driving east on Niedringhaus Avenue when he stopped for the stop sign at Chestnut Street and noticed a light going on.

One youth ran across the street to Rutledge's auto and stabbed Rutledge in the left arm, he said. Rutledge drove to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted with a 2 1/2 inch deep cut to his left forearm.

Police talked to several area residents and took two youths into custody. Rutledge identified Hughes as the youth who allegedly stabbed him and the charge was filed.

Judo instructor on 'Y' staff

The Tri-City Area YMCA has announced the addition of Darrell Sweeney, executive director of the United States Judo Association, to the YMCA program staff.

Sweeney is certified to teach self-defense and holds second degree black belts in judo and karate, and a third degree black belt in Jiu-Jitsu.

The YMCA judo program includes several levels of instruction including beginners, advanced, adult, and a special self-defense class for women.

Hartman quits sanitary district attorney post

Harry E. Hartman, Granite City attorney and a member of the legal staff of the Metro-East Sanitary District and its predecessor, the East Side Levee and Sanitary District, resigned as a district attorney in a letter presented to the sanitary district board in a meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Hartman was appointed as a levee district attorney by the former levee and sanitary district trustees in 1973 and had served in the post since, being retained as an attorney by the Metro-East Sanitary District board when it was organized last December.

He gave no reason for his resignation, noting in the letter only that he was "tendering my resignation effective Aug. 31."

Hartman said later he had no comment and that "I don't even want to talk about it."

The sanitary district has two other attorneys, John Sprague and Edward G. Maag, both of Belleville. Hartman received $800 per month as a district attorney.

The board during its meeting also approved requests for three building permits to construct residences in Madison County, and referred a fourth request to Wendell Wheadon, district director, for further investigation. The sanitary district has the authority to determine whether drainage facilities are sufficient to protect the health of the area.

The board approved requests for construction of a home at 4828 Warlock Ave., requested by Clay Haddock; for construction on Lot 4 of Hartline subdivision at the request of Sharon Hartline, and for a home in Eagle Park Acres, requested by Alice Johnson.

A building permit request to build a home on Glory Lane in the Doherty Slough area of Nameoki Township was referred to Wheadon because of its proximity to Doherty Slough, a drainage trouble area.

Faces charge of hitting boy, 16

Jerry Sedabres, 2420 Ohio Ave., was arrested Wednesday and was charged with battery for allegedly striking a 16-year-old boy with a fist Sunday night.

David Rose, 16, of 2534 Edwards St., told police he was chasing another boy and ran into the street, causing a driver to slam on his car's brakes to miss him. The driver of the car then got out and struck Rose's mouth with a fist, then returned to his car and left the scene.

Rose obtained a license plate number which led to Sedabres being sought. Sedabres was released on a notice to appear in court.

Pedestrian hit at 20th and Nash

Frederick Foster, 43, of 2428 Logan Ave., walking south across 20th Street to the Nash Street gate of Granite City Steel, was struck by a 1965 pickup truck operated by Paul Boyer, 2400 Iowa St., Apt. A, at 7:20 a.m. Wednesday.

Boyer was making a left turn onto 20th Street from the GCS entrance gate when the mishap occurred.

The pedestrian was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a sprained ankle and multiple contusions to both hands and right knee. He was released.

STUDY RAPE ALLEGATION

Police are continuing to study allegations by a St. Louis, Mo., man who was raped Sunday by a man who drove her from south St. Louis to the Venice riverfront. She had fallen asleep, and when she awakened the man threatened her with a knife and struck her, she said. He later drove back to St. Louis and let her out of the auto. A suspect arrested at his home in St. Louis is described as a fugitive from an earlier Madison County rape case.

HURT ON CYCLE

John Hartline, 18, of 3814 Lake Drive, sustained a possible back injury when he lost control of a motorcycle. He had x-rays taken Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital and was released after treatment.

Tracking allergies like a detective job

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT BOODY Registered Dietitian

Allergic reaction to specific foods is suffered by many people who are in constant search of relief.

The identification of the problem-causing item resembles the search for clues in a detective mystery. The allergen can be hidden in many different foods and is guessed by its unsuspecting victims without realizing it.

There are diagnostic tests that will show immediate positive reactions. One of these is the skin blotch. Some foods will always produce a positive result with this method.

Blatant reactions to skin testing usually include such foods as eggs, seafoods, figs and nuts. Fruits and vegetables are less apt to show a skin test reaction even though they are known allergens.

This makes identification more difficult and the means to it often include trial and error.

It is now known that foods and food additives, such as certain preservatives and dyes used by food manufacturers, can produce the same symptoms as inhaled allergens.

Asthma, bronchitis, rhinitis and sinusitis can be brought on by offending foods. Many years ago these allergic symptoms were thought to be limited only to inhaled dust or pollen, while food allergies were responsible for diarrhea, hives, intestinal cramping and eczema.

FORCED FROM ROADWAY

Doris Stout, 22, of 4111 Rode Ave., who said she was forced from the roadway while riding a motorcycle, was treated for a sprain of the left ankle at 11:15 p.m. Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital and released.

TREATED AT HOSPITAL

Treated for pains in the neck at 4:20 p.m. Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital was Miss Elizabeth Acosta, 21, of 4037 Melrose Ave., who said an auto she was operating the previous night was struck from the rear. She had x-rays taken and was released.

Identifying the offending foods is not always easy. One method of identification is the elimination of all foods except for one, such as beef, for seven days taking water as the only liquid. If all symptoms of allergy subside during this time, new foods can be added every three days. If symptoms persist while taking only the beef, it is replaced by another food such as veal, lamb or milk.

This method of dietary elimination is sometimes too hard for people to follow and, in this case, whole groups of foods are eliminated at one time, such as all dairy products, or all fruit, or all cereals, while the rest of the diet remains as usual. If symptoms subside during the elimination of a group of foods, one food from this group is added every three days to find the offending food is identified.

One of the most common food allergies, known for many years to cause migraine headaches, is chocolate. It may show up in many different forms in the diet and in unsuspected ways, but always causing an allergic reaction. For example, cola-flavored soft drinks usually are made from chocolate derivatives that can cause migraine attacks in some allergic people.

In most cases, avoidance of known food allergens has proved to be the best method of controlling allergies.

Dear Shirley: Does it do any harm to eat fresh fruits that are waxed?

Mrs. W.M.

Dear Mrs. W.M.: No, the wax is usually minimal amounts of paraffin, carnauba or mineral oil, all of which are edible. Waxing is supposed to prevent dehydration, shrinking and loss of nutrients. Always wash all fresh fruits and vegetables, before eating.

Dear Shirley: What is the recommended dietary allowance for vitamin C for adults? I am confused by vitamin pill quantities.

Miss J.D.

Dear Miss J.D.: The RDA for an adult is 45 mg. Huge quantities, 2,000 to 4,000 mg. are not recommended by qualified scientists for the average person.

MARK GOLDSCHMIDT, South Warrior halfback, slams home his — and South's first goal of the season yesterday against Waterloo at South's home field. There were many more to come.

South crushes Waterloo, 16-0

When Gene Baker said that he didn't think his Granite City South soccer Warriors would miss Dave Goldschmidt in the first game of the year against Waterloo, he wasn't kidding around.

Dave's brother, Mark, and teammate Greg Feigl were enough alone for Waterloo to handle yesterday.

South dominated play from beginning to end, demolished the Bulldogs' end of the field. Mark Goldschmidt then added his second and third goals of the game at 21:25 and 26:32 to make the score 5-0 and make Waterloo wish he'd never made the trip to Granite City.

Something that WAS there was the Warrior offense.

Mark Goldschmidt got the scoring started for South at 3:19 of the first half on an unassisted goal. About three minutes later, Greg Feigl took a pass from Jack Burnett and blasted home the first of four goals for him.

Steve Spencer got into the act and scored at 8:24 to make the score 3-0. Play then settled down a bit. But it was always in the Bulldogs' end of the field.

Mark Goldschmidt then added his second and third goals of the game at 21:25 and 26:32 to make the score 5-0 and make Waterloo wish he'd never made the trip to Granite City.

the upper-center portion of the net to make the score 8-0.

"It's obvious that Dave has got the stuff," said coach Baker. "He has all the moves. It's just a matter of getting it together."

Fernandez is no stranger to Baker, even though he is a freshman. Last season, he was South's ball-boy.

"He never missed a game or a practice," Baker said. "Some of the opposing coaches would have to take a second look when they'd see him on the sidelines juggling the ball like a pro."

There were absolutely no bright spots for Waterloo in the game, except if you'd count getting two shots on goal in the second half as compared to only one in the first. They were outshot by South 3-1 in the first half and 21-2 in the second.

Allen Valencia scored for South at 28:33 on another of the Warriors' unassisted goals. Steve Spencer added his second goal at 35:03 to increase the margin to 14-0. "Oh, for the ten-run lead rule in soccer," Waterloo must have been thinking.

"I'm really pleased with the play of Steve Spencer," said coach Baker. "He executed well on a lot of the mental things we've been working on and he has good mobility."

he's possibly going to be of some help to us."

The last two goals for South came at 36:53 and at 38:39 and were scored by Joe Theis and Dan Long, respectively.

After the game, Baker said the Warriors weren't trying to run up the score. Actually, the starters played only one-fourth of the game.

Another player that Baker was pleased with was Feigl. "Greg has really improved from last year," he said, "especially on getting the ball to someone for an assist."

Cougars want revenge

SIUE takes on IU's Hoosiers tonight

Soccer fans in the Evansville, Ind., area will get a chance tonight to see the best in intercollegiate soccer.

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars will meet the team that ousted them from the NCAA Division I playoffs last year—Indiana University—in an exhibition game at Evansville's Bosse Field.

The Hoosiers last year beat SIUE 1-0 in a regional match in Bloomington, Ind.

SIUE finished last season with a 12-4 record and seemed to have everything going its way in that regional game against IU.

The Hoosiers sailed through the 1976 season with an 18-1 record. That one loss didn't come until the title round of the NCAA championships. Then, the University of San Francisco nailed the Hoosiers 1-0 to take the crown.

But it's that regional game between SIUE and Indiana that adds the ingredient of revenge to tonight's Bosse Field meeting of the two teams.

Indiana won that game in the second half on a breakthrough by Charlie Pagkas, but the game statistics showed that SIUE controlled the ball for 86 per cent of the game.

SIUE got 36 shots-on-goal to only 11 for Indiana. The Hoosier's goalie made nine saves to three for SIUE and the Cougars took ten corner kicks to three for Indiana.

These are some of the reasons that the Cougars put away their fear last fall unconvinced of Indiana's superiority. They'll get a chance to prove it tonight.

SIUE is coached, of course, by the most successful soccer man in the college game. Bob Guelker has been coaching the sport since 1959 and in those 17 years (divided between St. Louis University and SIUE) has compiled a 197-33-11 record.

"There's no doubt in my mind who was the best team on the field last year," he said. "We were."

It's just one of those things when the ball won't go into the net for you."

The Cougars have a lot of spots left vacant from their roster of a year ago. Six veterans, all starters, are gone.

"I'm faced with the problem of replacing these guys," said Guelker. "And, while it's true that I have signed some outstanding young prospects with good potential, our three captains from last year's campaign—Mark Moran, Tim Wellman and Gene Mishalow—were starters for four years."

"We also suffered a devastating loss when our sophomore ace, striker Greg Villa, dropped out of school to play pro soccer."

Turning to this season, Guelker said there are some definite pluses. Returning is Greg Makowski, two-time first team All-American who is now serving as captain of the U.S.A. Olympic soccer team preparing for the 1980 Olympic Games.

"Greg had the potential to be the number one draft choice in pro soccer next year," said Guelker.

Coach Jerry Yeagley's Indiana team is loaded with many of the same players, including All-American forward Angelo DiBernardo from last year's team.

The game is set for 7:30 p.m. The Cougars will play here Sept. 17 against the alumni. The regular season starts Sept. 7 on the road at the University of Connecticut.

2 steelers vie for spots on Northwest Mizzou team

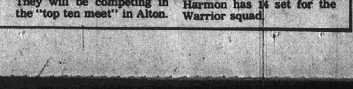

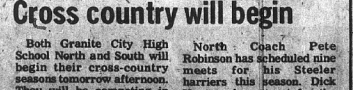

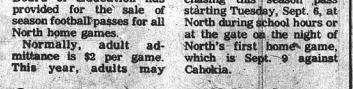

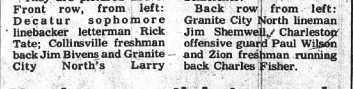

Six former prep stars are fighting for spots on the 1977 football roster at Northwest Missouri State University.

Two lettermen and four freshmen figure to be a part of a Jim Reid-coached Bears team beginning its first 11-game schedule ever.

Among them are two players from Granite City: Jim Sherman, linemen, and sophomore receiver-defensive back letterman Larry Schleicher.

NWMSU kicks off the 1977 season Sept. 3 at home against Chadron State of Nebraska. The Bears are competing in the seven-school NCA Division II-affiliated Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association and have put together that league's best overall record (49-19-0) the past six seasons.

Cella leads North to fast 3-0 start

For Granite City North golf coach Russ Chappell, Tuesday and Wednesday were good days for him and his team.

For senior golfer Mike Cella, it was even more pleasant. Cella was match medalist both days and led the Steelers to wins over Wood River on Tuesday and a win over both Granite City South and Highland yesterday. All three victories came on the road.

Cella shot a 39 against Wood

River at Belk Park in Collinsville Tuesday to earn low-scoring honors, and a 40 in yesterday's triangular at Highland.

Granite City South's Kevin Romine shot a 41 yesterday to finish second individually to Cella. It was South's first outing of the season.

The score in the Wood River-North matchup on Tuesday was North 167, Wood River 175.

North won yesterday with a score of 167. Highland was second with 177 and South was third with 180.

The top four scores for North in the match against Wood River were: Cella 39, Dan Harper and Russ Chappell were tied at 42, and Scott Robertson and George Bartz were tied with scores of 43.

In the triangular, the scoring for North: Cella 40, Harper 41, Chappell 42, Bartz and Robertson were again tied, this time with 44's.

The scoring for South yesterday: Romine 41, Ben Brown and Greg Mulach were tied with 46's, and Herman Schroeder had a 48.

The next match for Granite

City South will be next Tuesday, Sept. 6. The Warriors host Belleville East at 4 p.m. at the Arlington Golf Club.

North's next match is today against Alton, also at Arlington at 4 p.m.

At West Granite Park, the Midtown 6A team defeated the Mexican Honorary Commission 13-10. Quad City Businessmen beat Shug's Liquor 14-12 and the Midtown 6A team beat the Midtown 6A team 18-15 in a second-round game.

Tonight at Woghen Park, the Tri-City Merchants will play the Raiders at 7. McDonald's will play Dempsey-Adams at 8, and Razor's Edge will meet Quad City Businessmen at 9.

At West Granite Park, City Temple plays Shug's Liquor at 7 p.m. There originally was to be an 8 p.m. game, but because it will involve teams (McDonald's and Dempsey-Adams) that will be playing at Worthen at the same time, it has been re-scheduled for 10 p.m.

At that time, the Mexican Honorary Commission will play the loser of the McDonald-Dempsey-Adams game. At 9 p.m., the winner of the City Temple-Shug's game plays the winner of the 7 p.m. game between Tri-City Merchants and the Raiders.

Play will continue until Sunday's 7 p.m. contest, a second title game will be played at 9 p.m. Sunday.

Two winners clashing in the other semifinal at 2 p.m. Saturday and the afternoon victors colliding at 9 p.m. Saturday for the right to play in the title game at 8 p.m. Sunday.

The losers' bracket representative in the championship game will be determined through games at 3, 7 and 9 p.m. Saturday and 6 and 7 p.m. Sunday.

If neither team has suffered a second loss by the end of Sunday's 5 p.m. contest, a second title game will be played at 9 p.m. Sunday.

The seven-team Granite City Park District Labor Day women's slow pitch softball tournament will begin tomorrow and continue through Sunday, Sept. 4.

The first game will be tomorrow (Sept. 2) between Minne's Tee Pee and Clean Craft at 7 p.m. The second game will feature Sobel Realty and Mitchell Athletic Club and will be played at 8 p.m. A 9 p.m. game Friday will be between Sedona and VFW Post 1090.

The tournament is double-elimination and all the games will be played at Wilson Park in Granite City.

Friday's first victor will oppose Ravenselli's at 1 p.m. Saturday, with tomorrow's final

She's no 'libber,' but she does love golf

16-YEAR-OLD Kathy Gilley is trying to make the Granite City North High golf team successful. She's also the only girl on the team.

For most 16-year-old girls, the beginning of school means many things... new clothes, meeting new friends, meeting boys. But for Kathy Gilley, it means this and much more. Kathy's an oddity of sorts. Not an oddity, really, although no one else in Granite City does what she does.

Kathy plays on the Granite City High School North boys golf team.

Her main objective is to shoot around 50 this year... not really good enough to qualify for the top four on the team, but good enough for her purposes.

"I want to go to the girls' state tournament this year," Kathy said. "I almost made it last year, but fell just a little short."

Kathy's strategy could well work. When she plays on the boys team, she must use the guys' tees, which are farther away from the hole than are the girls'.

How do boys react to having a girl on the team?

"They were a little surprised at first, I think," the pretty 16-year-old said. "But they really didn't resent it or anything."

"We get along real good," she added. "It's a lot of fun... I really enjoy it."

But Kathy isn't there just for the practice.

"I want to play for this team and do as well as I can to help us win."

Kathy, who has been playing golf for about three years now, joined the team when she was a freshman. She's now a junior.

"My mom and dad (Marion and JoAnn Gilley) both play a lot of golf," she said. "I guess they were as influential as anybody in getting me started."

Kathy played a lot of golf the past summer, trying to get ready for the fall season. She also has been taking lessons from a pro at a nearby club.

KATHY DOESN'T picture herself as a crusader of any kind for the women's movement. She simply wants to play golf.

"I sort of wish that there were more girls on the team," she said. "But it doesn't bother me too much."

She was scared at first when I found out that I was going to be the only girl on a team of boys. But there isn't any reason to be.

We get along and everyone wishes me well."

How about Kathy's classmates at school? How do they react?

"Everybody seems to be on my side," she said. "One of my friends asked me the other day if I was going to play on the boys' team again this year."

"When I told her yes, she just said 'Good luck' and that was it."

A guiding force behind Kathy being on the team is her coach, Russ Chappell.

"Kathy is coming along real well," Coach Chappell said. "She's a lot of fun, the guys like her, and she's an asset to the team."

"Coach Chappell is really great," Kathy said. "He helps me out (as he does for every member of the team) when I'm having trouble with something and gives me encouragement."

For Kathy, golfing is serious business and fun at the same time. She enjoys the competition, even though she (as many athletes) doesn't do as well as she thinks she should at times.

"Sometimes I get a little frustrated at myself, but I guess everyone goes through that," she said.

Kathy Gilley may be a curiosity, but she certainly isn't an oddity.

As one of the freshmen on the team said, "She sure is a lot nicer to look at than anyone else on the team."

South and North begin cross country Friday

Both Granite City North and South will begin their 1977 cross country seasons tomorrow as they are entered in the Alton Top Ten Meet being held in Alton at Rock Springs Park, near the high school.

The Alton Top Ten meet is unusual because of the system of scoring used.

Normally, only five of the seven runners a school enters have their scores counted toward their team's final total in a meet.

In the Top Ten meet, however, a school runs ten, and all of their scores count. Thus, a runner could have potentially more incentive.

Granite City High School North finished third in last year's meet. Alton won it and Belleville West took second.

North coach Pete Robinson is optimistic when talking about his team's chances — not only in the Alton meet but also for the entire season.

"We've got some very strong runners back from last season, including Mike Baker," Robinson said. "He was the top runner in the area and is the defending individual champ from last year's Alton meet."

"He's looking very good so far and is making good progress," he added. "We have very high hopes for this young man."

Greg Stout is also going to be good for us this year, I think," said Robinson. "He finished fifth last year at Alton, but sort of tapered off toward the end of the season."

Another harrier who could help the Steelers is Junior Russ Kenan, a transfer student from Riverside-Brookfield High School near Chicago. "Russ is looking real good and could give us a lot of help this year," said Robinson.

Coach Robinson said that right now it's hard to predict who's going to be the team to beat this season.

"Usually, there are one or two dominating teams you can say will be the ones to beat, but this year, it looks pretty wide open at this point."

"Alton is always tough and Belleville West usually is hard to beat."

"T.H.'s Cross Country coach, Dick Harmon, is pleased with the way his team is progressing."

"For this point in the season," he said, "I'm happy with the progress that's been made by the boys."

"Although we're not exactly where we'd like to be, the guys are working hard and I'm proud of them."

Harmon said he has several runners who will aid the total team effort this year. "James Dumont and Ken Meagher, who are seniors, will help," he said. "They're making good progress."

"Also, there's Dave Blackwell (junior), Dave Taylor (junior) and Dave Houston (sophomore)," he added.

"Mark DeGonia and Scott Ahlers (senior and junior, respectively), are also looking real good."

"We have a lot of guys, really," he added, "who are going to be good for us. They're all training hard."

Both Harmon and Robinson don't know exactly who will be entered in tomorrow's meet at Alton.

"You never really know until you get there," said Robinson. "There should be about four or five teams."

Past competitors have included Centralia, Salem, Edwardsville and both Belleville East and West.

IS LOW PRICE THE MAIN MEASURE OF A PRESCRIPTION SERVICE?

It's important, of course, but so is the other word up there... service.

It means a Pharmacist interested in you; it means convenient hours; compounding, if necessary, complete stocks (including fine quality generics), so you get your prescription promptly. All that... PLUS savings... is what makes your Walgreen Pharmacist so proud to welcome you...

Virginia Perdue
To instruct in English
Miss Virginia Perdue, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim (Marge) Perdue, 2113 Grand Ave., has joined the faculty of Western Illinois University at Macomb, Ill., as an instructor of English.
Miss Perdue attended St. Teresa Academy in East St. Louis.
She earned a bachelor's degree from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.
Miss Perdue received her master's degree in English from the University of Illinois in Champaign in August this year.

News notes

Governor James R. Thompson has approved legislation to tighten regulations on all trucks hauling hazardous materials on Illinois roads. The new law charges the Illinois Department of Transportation with overseeing enforcement of the new rules, which include volume limits, has been detailed safety standards for hauling hazardous materials, with vehicle placards to warn the public about substances being hauled.

Bicycle accident fatalities in Illinois decreased 25.8 per cent last year, nearly triple the national average improvement. Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon comments, "No one will ever know how many lives are being saved by educational programs of local government, schools and civic groups, encouraged by the Bicycle Safety Program of our office." A copy of the Bicycle Rules of the Road is available from: Alan J. Dixon, Secretary of State, Springfield 62756.

Michael Maury, head of control programs for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, has been appointed director of EPA by Gov. Thompson. Maury succeeds Leo Eisel, who resigned to work for the federal government.

Josephine K. Oblinger, director of the Illinois Department on Aging, has announced that Illinois' first Senior Citizens Olympic Games are scheduled for Oct. 7-9 in Springfield. Areas of competition will include track and field, swimming, tennis and other. Two age brackets for both men and women will be set up. Information or entry blanks may be obtained by writing the Springfield Recreation Department, 1415 N. Grand Ave. East, Springfield 62702.

Gov. Thompson has announced the creation of a task force to examine state government spending methods to determine where costs can be cut and services can be provided more efficiently. The task force will include loaned specialists from the Illinois labor and business community. The effort will be financed by private donations.

The Governor has proposed a compromise designed to break the General Assembly's deadlock on anti-crime legislation. Thompson presented what he termed the best of his Class X violent crime package and combined it with a House bill. He said key features of his proposal will be formally presented at a later date.

Due to a decline in unemployment in Illinois, the Federal Supplemental Benefit program, which provides up to 13 weeks of benefits in addition to the basic 26-week program, ended on Aug. 27. C. Thomas Ross, administrator of the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security, emphasizes that individuals currently drawing benefits under the FSB program will continue to receive those benefits. Termination of the program affects only individuals who exhaust the basic 26 weeks of benefits after Aug. 20.

DONALD R. EDWARDS

Credit League promotion for Don Edwards

Donald R. Edwards of Wood River has been appointed as development coordinator for the Illinois Credit Union League, according to Richard L. Ensweller, president.

Edwards, a native of Granite City, has been with the ICUL as a field representative since 1974. He is a graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville with a bachelor of science degree in business administration.

Prior to joining the Illinois Credit Union League, he was an account representative for Inter-Continental Computer Corp. in Kansas City, Mo.

His involvement in the credit union movement began in 1964 with the Laclede Alton Works Employees Credit Union, where he served as a credit manager and functioned as assistant manager of the credit union.

As a League field representative, Edwards served three ICUL chapters in Southern Illinois, composed of 130 credit unions.

In his new position, he will be responsible for supervision of field services and coordination of the electronic funds transfer environment.

EDWIN NIEPERT, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Niepert, 2429 Woodlawn Ave., has been promoted to the rank of Lance Corporal with the U.S. Marine Corps. He entered the service in June 1976 and is serving as a radioman at the Marine Corps Base, San Diego, Calif.

Police quell street fight

On the second call within 20 minutes that a fight was in progress in the 2700 block of Maryville Road at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday, officers found cars blocking the street and a "huge crowd of people loitering."

Confiscated at the scene were two jack handles, two ax handles and a wooden pole. While attempting to disperse the crowd, police arrested Charles C. Hitchcock Jr., 22, of Rural Route Two, Box 2800, charging him with disorderly conduct. He was released on $35 cash bond.

Officers said Tuesday night's disturbance was the third incident in three days involving the same group of people.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., Sept. 1, 1977 Page 18

Wes Ragsdale speaks tonight

Wes Ragsdale, whose taped seminar of ministry, entitled "Healing the Broken Hearted," is widely acclaimed, will speak at 7:30 p.m. today at Faith Christian Center, 4397 Highway 162 at Stallings.

Members of all denominations are invited to hear the well-known evangelist, who addressed a gathering of 3,000 persons at a recent seminar at the New Covenant Fellowship in Florissant, Mo., according to Mrs. Scotty Radford, a member of the local congregation.

Brother Ragsdale is co-pastor of Washington Park Fellowship, St. Louis, and a full-time student at the University of Missouri at St. Louis. He is the former advisor to the St. Louis Chapter of Women's Aglow.

The Rev. J. M. Graham is pastor of Faith Christian Center here.

Mrs. Brockman club hostess

Members of the Past Noble Grand Club of Ann Rutledge Rebekah Lodge 47 met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Caroline Brockman.

A noon luncheon was served by the hostess followed by a business session.

Games of pinocle were enjoyed during the afternoon and prizes were awarded to Ann Kummernann, Helen Love and Clara Harbig.

Also present was a guest Amelia Stiegelmeier. The next meeting on Sept. 27 will be held in the home of Mrs. Vera Schilling.

Young daughters receive degrees

The daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Young of Monterey, Nuevo Leon, Mexico, formerly of Granite City, have completed their undergraduate college education and received degrees at schools in Texas, the family reported this week.

Mrs. Ripley (Janet Young) Lowe was graduated from the Pan American University at Edinburg, Tex., with a degree in applied music—piano performance.

Mrs. Lee (Linda Young) White was graduated from Texas A and I University in Corpus Christi, Tex., with a degree in finance and business. Both young women attended Granite City schools and will be working in their respective fields in Texas.

BRANDT AT EMPLOYE BENEFIT CONFERENCE

William Edward Brandt, attorney with offices at 1308a Niedringhaus Avenue, Granite City, Bricklayers Local 65 of Southwest Illinois, affiliated with the International Union of Bricklayers and Allied Craftworkers, was in San Francisco in August as a delegate to the 23rd annual educational conference of the International Foundation of Employee Benefit Plans.

During the conference, over 50 topics were presented in 140 separate sessions. The Foundation's annual conference is considered the most comprehensive program of its kind. Headquartered in Milwaukee, it is a membership organization which provides a continuing educational forum through the year on current issues and problems for employee benefit fund trustees and professional advisors to the funds, such as attorneys, accountants, actuaries and administrators. Over 5,000 attended this year's meeting.

DELAYED TREATMENT

Mrs. Barbara Frazier, 22, of 2209 Cleveland Blvd., was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for pain in the neck area at 4:30 p.m. Monday. She reported being a passenger in a car which was involved in an accident the night before.

Expect opposition to building plan

Plans for the Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice Drainage District to construct a $16,000 building on Chouteau Township's property near the township's garage and town hall-community center is likely to receive some opposition from the town board of auditors.

The plan was proposed during Monday night's town board meeting by Joe Stefanoff of the drainage district and by Walter "Dick" Sparks, Chouteau Township supervisor.

Sparks showed a plat of the township-owned property and suggested a 100-foot-square parcel on the south edge of the property and adjacent to the east side of the entrance roadway be leased to the drainage district for 99 years for $1.

GC men charged after MEG raid

A quantity of marijuana, described as a "large amount," was found in two apartments at 1728 Cleveland Blvd., when officers from the Metropolitan Enforcement Group-Southern Illinois (MEGSI) raided the Granite City Police Department implemented a search warrant at 8:35 p.m. Tuesday.

Twenty-five packets of marijuana, with a street retail value of $5 and $10 per packet, were found in one apartment and three other packets of marijuana were discovered in the other, police said.

A lunch bucket containing marijuana and some cash was found in one apartment, an officer said.

Arrested were William W. Kmucha, 19, and Richard K. Tarti, 23, both living at 1728 Cleveland. Each was charged with possession of cannabis.

Kmucha appeared Wednesday before Associate Judge Andreas A. Matosian, who set bond at $5,000. He was released at 3:35 p.m. on payment of $500 cash. Tarti, whose bond also was set at $5,000, was released on payment of $500 cash at 7:20 p.m. Wednesday.

Question brothers in theft attempt

Two brothers, ages 10 and 14, face possible juvenile court actions and two other boys, ages 12 and 14, are being sought in connection with an attempted theft from Central Hardware in Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center earlier this week.

Police on patrol noticed several youths walking near the rear of the building and investigated, seeing one youth duck down behind some boxes inside a fence at the south side of the building.

"They called for other police units and when other squad cars arrived, two youths were seen squeezing under the fence gate. They were arrested and questioned, leading to the other two being sought.

A dismantled bicycle was found inside the fence.

Suspect faces extradition

Pontoon Beach Chief of Police Roswell Bennett Jr. reported that a suspect in the armed robbery of Spartan Gas station that took place at 9:55 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 24, has been arrested and is being held by St. Louis County police.

The 17-year-old Delwood, Mo., youth is scheduled for an extradition hearing today.

According to Pontoon Beach police, St. Louis county authorities also want the youth and he may face charges there first.

Man stabbed, suspect charged

Andreas A. Matosian at 3:20 p.m. Tuesday and was released on a $25,000 recognizance bond, pending a preliminary hearing date to be set.

Collins, who was stabbed in the abdomen and right shoulder, was revived by doctors at St. Elizabeth Hospital immediately after the incident.

He underwent surgery and was considered in critical condition until Tuesday when he was transferred from the Intensive Care Unit to a regular hospital room.

Police said Collins was found lying on his back and bleeding profusely at 3:15 p.m. Monday in an alley near the DAV Club parking lot.

A trail of blood led to the rear door of the veterans' club. Joseph Heffner, club manager, reportedly was "mopping up blood" near the entrance to the building when officers arrived, according to police reports.

Police were told that Broomfield and Collins became embroiled in an argument inside the club and Broomfield suddenly got up from the bar and hurriedly left by the side door. He allegedly was followed outside by Collins.

In the parking lot, Collins allegedly jumped onto Broomfield's back, witnesses said.

A patrol in the club reported seeing Collins jump onto Broomfield's back and observed Collins stagger back to the club and then walk toward the alley.

Two other people outside the club saw Collins stagger from the DAV parking lot, hang onto a fence post and then lurch forward about 10 paces before falling to the ground.

A man was seen running north along the alley at the rear of the 1900 block of State Street by one person.

Broomfield was arrested at Hamilton's Lounge (formerly Doc's Lounge), 1417 Twentieth St., where officers found him talking on the telephone.

Student safety topic of Maryville PTA

The safety of students as they arrive and depart for classes at Maryville School was the main topic of discussion at the first PTA meeting held Monday evening, at the school.

Mrs. Linda Apponyi spoke on the dangers of children walking along Maryville Road, in relation to the increased traffic flow, and Mrs. Tina O'Sha asked for volunteers to assist in the afternoon with students leaving at the rear parking lot at the school. Parents are required to park at the back of the school to pick up their children, Mrs. O'Sha added. The meeting was opened by the new president, Jack Miller, who led the group in reciting the pledge to the flag. He then in troduced other officers, Mrs. Sandy Wilkinson, treasurer, Mrs. Phyllis Pickrell, secretary, and Mrs. O'Sha, vice-president.

Jack Mulach, school principal, announced a pilot program for teachers and parents will be held at Johnson and Maryville Schools. The nine week project will begin in October and is designed for the teachers to explain the class level curriculum, to the parents.

Mrs. Barbara Haddock, president of the Area PTA

Council, reviewed the programs, projects and aims of the council, and presented Mrs. Julia Gates, vice-president of the Area Council.

The PTA is presently conducting a membership drive and is inviting each parent to become a member at the cost of $1 per person, according to Sandy Kozyak and Joyce Hufferd, co-chairmen of the campaign.

Also announced was the fund raising project of the fifth and sixth grade students to begin on Thursday, Sept. 8. They will be

Widow of 1909-10 GC Mayor Chas. Uzzell dies

Mrs. Mary E. (Moore) Uzzell, 97, of Goleta, Calif., the widow of Charles Uzzell, a former Granite City druggist and mayor of Granite City, died Wednesday night at the Extended Care Hospital, Santa Barbara, Calif., according to word received here.

Mrs. Uzzell was born in Moro, Ill., in 1880 and taught school in Bethalto and East Alton prior to her marriage to Mr. Uzzell in 1900.

They resided in Venice for three years while he completed his pharmacy training and in 1904 they moved to a home they built on State Street in Granite City. He was mayor from 1909 to 1910.

They operated a drug store at 19th Street and Delmar Avenue for about 36 years until the death of Mr. Uzzell in 1940. Two years later, Mrs. Uzzell sold the store.

In June 1966, Mrs. Uzzell sold her home and moved to California to reside with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas (Grace) Marshall, City druggist.

Mrs. Uzzell was a member of Niederrhaus United Methodist Church and the Daughters of American Revolution. She was a charter member of The Ladies Coterie. Survivors include her daughter, Mrs. Marshall, two grandsons, nine great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

Memorial services and cremation will be in Santa Barbara, Calif.

Miss Kathy Jo Dunn and Larry Collard are wed

Miss Kathy Jo Dunn and Larry W. Collard, both of Granite City, were united in marriage on Aug. 25 in a ceremony held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Pourdas, 2548 Westmoreland Drive.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony at 6 p.m. was the Rev. Bill Riddel.

The bride is a daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Arthur L. Dunn Sr., of Patton, Mo. Serving as matron of honor and best man were Mrs. Janet Pourdas and Nick Pourdas. A reception for relatives and close friends was held immediately following the service at the Pourdas residence.

The newly married couple are now residing in Granite City.

Woman beaten by intruder

Mrs. Marceline Dawdy, 55, of 3008 Edgewood Ave., was beaten by a man with a gun who came to her front door on the pretense of delivering a parcel at 2:50 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Dawdy said the man, about 30 years old, struck her several times with a small revolver when she opened the door. He also entered her home while beating her.

She screamed and ran out the door and to a neighbor's home, from where police were called. The man is believed to have left the home through a rear door, leaving a receipt book behind. Mrs. Dawdy was taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was admitted with three cuts to her head, a cut to the right side of her face, an abrasion to her right ear and abrasions and contusions to her right arm.

Accountability meeting Sept. 8

Plans are complete for a traditional summertime Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce activity, the general membership and accountability meeting.

The dinner gathering is set for 6 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 8, at Fireman's Hall on Third Street in Madison.

Committees will submit reports on progress in attaining goals charted at the start of the Chamber year last October. Discussion also will be held on new objectives related to aviation, small businesses and community health.

The board of the Women's Division is meeting at 7:30 tonight, and directors of the Chamber are to convene at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 7, at the Army Installation.

George Stinson, chairman of the board of National Steel Corporation, will address the Chamber's annual dinner meeting at Sunset Hills Country Club at 6 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 27.

Agape Puppeteers program tonight

A special one night service only featuring the Agape Puppeteers of Winston Salem, N.C., will be presented at 7:30 p.m. today at the Word of Life Tabernacle, 12th Street and Meridian Avenue.

The Rev. Henry Crippen, host pastor, extends an invitation to children and adults in the area to attend the service as the gospel is presented with the aid of puppets.

Cars ticketed near McKinley

With a number of teacher-owned autos ticketed Tuesday for parking more than two hours near McKinley School, some cars are now reportedly being parked on the small campus.

Parking space in the McKinley area usually is limited due to the proximity to St. Elizabeth Hospital, neighbors say, leaving faculty members with the choice of a two-hour zone or more distant unzoned parking.

BREAK INTO HOME

Two large windows were broken between 9 p.m. Tuesday and 10 a.m. Wednesday at the home of John Cone, 2200a Iowa St., and a stereo and two large speakers were moved under the broken windows, the victim discovered. The burglars apparently were frightened away before they could remove the stereo equipment through the windows. Nothing is known missing.

Steve Komanecky, 87, dies

Steve Komanecky, 87, of Livingston, Ill., a retired coal miner, died at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Community Memorial Hospital, Staunton.

He was born in Austria and was a long time resident of the Livingston area. Mr. Komanecky also operated the Gyrene Inn in Livingston for 17 years.

A member of St. Mary's Orthodox Church in Benld, Mr. Komanecky also belonged to the National Slovak Society and Russian Orthodox Lodge, both of Benld, and the Progressive Mine Workers of America, Local 62 of Livingston.

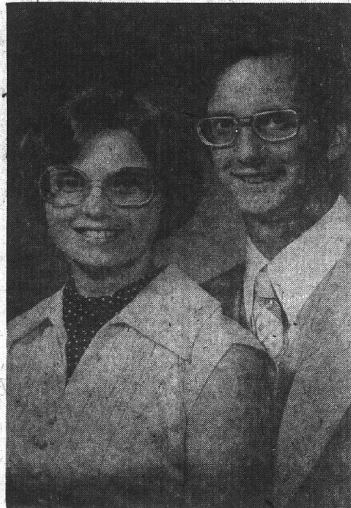

Mr. Komanecky served as president of the Village of Livingston for six years during 1947 to 1983.

He and his wife, Mrs. Julia (Rydgi) Komanecky, who survives, were married April 25, 1915, in Madison. Other survivors include three sons, Thomas Komanecky of Lindenhurst, Ill., Raymond Komanecky of St. Charles, Mo., and Cyril Komanecky of St. Louis; and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Stanhaus of Glenview, Ill.; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

VANDALS DAMAGE AUTO
Damage estimated at $230 was caused by a vandal who slashed the convertible top and smashed a speaker control switch on the 1967 auto of Butch Peterson, 3234 Willow Ave., while the vehicle was parked in a lot at Granite City High School South, he reported at 3:45 p.m. Tuesday.

PARTNERS IN LAW AND MARRIAGE are Kathleen Moran, formerly of Granite City, and her husband, Pat Callahan.

Callahan, Moran team in more ways than one

Pat Callahan and Kathleen Moran have announced the opening of their law office, located in the Parkway Shopping Center, 463 E. Broadway, Trenton, Ill. They will be doing business as "Callahan & Moran." The husband-wife team resides in Aviston, having recently purchased a home there. She is formerly of Granite City.

Callahan and Moran graduated from the University of Kansas School of Law in the spring of 1976 and were married in August 1976 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Granite City. For the past year, they resided in Belleville, where she was employed as a legal researcher for Justice Joseph H. Goldenhersh of the Illinois Supreme Court.

Callahan has been employed by the law firm of Cadigan and Gain of Collinsville. While both are members of the Illinois Bar, Callahan is also a member of the Kansas Bar. He is first vice-president of the Trenton Lions Club.

While in law school, Kathleen Moran co-authored several chapters for a Kansas legal aid, manual on unemployment compensation, supplemental security income and social security. This manual is used by legal aid offices throughout Kansas.

Callahan and his wife worked together on an estate planning project, setting up an estate plan for a hypothetical family. During the summers of 1974 and 1975, she was employed by the Madison County Public Defender's Office.

Callahan completed his law school studies in two years. Before attending law school, he was employed as an investigator for the Consumer Protection Division of the Wichita City Attorney's office. The female half of the law firm is the daughter of Fifth District Appellate Judge and Mrs. George J. Moran of Granite City. Callahan, formerly of Wichita, is the son of John Callahan, a Wichita attorney, and Yvonne Callahan.

CB, STEREO TAKEN
A citizens band radio, valued at $180, and an eight track AM-FM stereo worth $88 were stolen from the van of Bob Worthen, 1100 Niedringhaus Ave., while the vehicle was parked at Midwest Customs, 2301 Nameoki Road, it was reported at 3:30 p.m. Monday.

Measures would be deterrent

By KEN WATSON

SPRINGFIELD — The opening session of the 80th Illinois General Assembly may well go down in history as the "crime session."

It is well along in the process of enacting some far-reaching legislation that will affect the state's courts and prison system for years to come. It will also leave the state with a huge bill to pay. If all the crime bills flowing through the Legislature do indeed become law, it will mean a lot more people will be going to jail than in the past and will be staying there longer.

With Illinois prisons already overcrowded to the critical point, another huge influx of inmates would pose a distinct threat of disaster. Gov. James R. Thompson for weeks has been trying to force existing state facilities, chiefly mental hospitals, that could be converted into prisons.

Hopefully, this would relieve the situation at some existing prisons, including the maximum security prison at Stateville, where overcrowded conditions have already raised the specter of rioting.

But the Thompson plan has made only limited headway because most communities do not want hardened prisoners anywhere near them.

The crime issue is rapidly developing into probably the dominant one facing the people of Illinois. It cannot be easily resolved.

The basic reason is that the current drive against crime is aimed at the most vicious violators, those who murder, rape and commit serious crimes again and again.

Some bills would liberalize probation and parole procedures for persons convicted of white collar or non-violent crimes.

This could help reduce prison populations to some extent, but not by much. The fact is that judges and parole boards are already liberal in dealing with non-violent offenders.

In recent years the ratio of violent offenders to non-violent offenders has shifted drastically. The non-violent offenders are now a distinct minority in about all prisons. The maximum security institutions such as Stateville and Menard are peopled virtually exclusively by hardened offenders.

Society has demanded that persons who commit the most feared crimes against persons be placed behind bars or, in some cases, be put to death.

The Illinois Legislature has been responding in full measure with a bill to establish the death penalty.

Another bill which would mandate life sentences for so-called "three-time losers," persons convicted three times of certain felonies including rape and murder. There would be no opportunity for parole.

A similar bill would set minimum and maximum limits on prison sentences for various crimes.

Under it a person convicted of murder would be sentenced to a minimum prison term of 20 years or a maximum of 40 unless specifically committed for life. For armed robbery the sentence would be from 6 to 25 years. There would be no release on parole. Another bill nearing passage in the Senate would provide for a mandatory prison sentence for any crime committed with a gun.

Forget-Me-Not days scheduled Sept. 13-17

Quad-City Mayors Paul Schuler of Granite City, William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice and Mike Sasyk of Madison have proclaimed Sept. 13 through Sept. 17 as Disabled American Veterans Forget-Me-Not days. Members of the local DAV Chapter 53 and its Auxiliary will participate in the annual campaign to collect funds for disabled veterans in this community.

The DAV offers a free service to disabled veterans and their families in filing claims for government benefits and also assists in job, hospital, employment and other disabled veterans problems, according to the proclamation.

Tragedy spotlights need for study of existing procedures

All share in the sorrow over the death of an 18-year-old Cutler, Ill., woman on the same day she underwent an abortion in Granite City. Major attention is being focused on the occurrence due to litigation and public statements by persons critical of clinics in general and the local clinic in particular.

Courts will adjudicate facts related to the June 14 death, on which a verdict of accidental death resulting from abortion was issued at an inquest Aug. 26.

The public remains sharply divided on the overall subject of abortion and is unlikely ever to achieve unanimity on the moral aspects. Other moral questions, additional points appear to merit discussion.

Within the context of prevailing state and federal laws and court rulings, study may need to be given to the issue of whether 12 weeks is the suitable point at which a pregnancy can be terminated at out-patient centers by suction and aspiration. The local estimate in the Davis case was 11 weeks, while an autopsy indicated 14 to 16 1/2 weeks.

Because such determinations are imprecise, the 12-week standard may allow insufficient tolerance for error and perhaps should be reduced to a fewer number of weeks. Rules governing the extent of pre-surgery examination and the range of permissible surgical techniques also may need considerable improvement.

One of the chief arguments voiced in favor of legal clinics is that they offer greater safety than "illegal, back-alley operating rooms" by assuring high standards of procedure and performance. A question which now presents itself is how much monitoring is conducted to verify that such standards are in fact appropriate and adequate, and that they are adhered to with skill and judgment.

Driving caution needed; many young students at crossings

As part of the 45th annual "School's Open" campaign, those who drive are being reminded of the thousands of young pedestrians, many of whom are unfamiliar with the technique of safely crossing an intersection.

The Automobile Club is stressing that "when youngsters are going to and from schools—walking, running and playing—their lack of experience in traffic situations, their impulsiveness and their occasional lack of attention should be constant reminders to motorists to be particularly alert when children are present.

"Motorists should get re-acquainted with safe driving practices, such as slowing down in the vicinity of schools, heeding stop signs and flashing signals, observing safe procedures in bus loading areas, and obeying the directions of crossing guards, in order to assure a safe return to school."

"School is open. Drive carefully."

Bipartisan effort to sharply cut state's car licensing costs

Press-Record Springfield Bureau — Illinois car owners, who have been receiving in the mail applications to renew their current license plate numbers, may need a gentle reminder that an era is quietly passing.

This will be the last year for the annual ritual of applying for single-year license plates and the later mid-winter chore for most of affixing them in the bitter cold.

Next year things will be different. For effective in 1979, Illinois will be joining all but five other states with multi-year auto plates.

We don't doubt that those car owners who enjoy the annual ritual of changing license plates and await the bright new ones with anticipation, will regret the switch.

But people who own cars also pay taxes and the change to the five-year plates will even mean substantial savings in the cost of the license plate program. Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon estimates that the state's total cost to issue plates should drop about $21 million over the next five years.

This is because fewer plates will be issued and because of lower mailing, handling and storage costs. There will be no benefits also in the area of law enforcement. The five-year plates will simplify the police job of keeping tabs on registrations.

The yearly deals which motorists will be receiving this out of five years will be no doubt less attractive than brand new plates.

But they will be easier to put on, and car owners will have that added source of knowing they won't have to do even that little job in the cold weather. Under the new, staggered basis for re-registering cars will be December, January and February are excluded.

The legislation had bipartisan sponsorship in the legislature, was strongly backed by Democratic Secretary of State Dixon and was signed into law by Republican Gov. James R. Thompson.

The change was long overdue and represents good judgment on the part of all concerned.

Law enforcement study needs county government response

Alton Telegraph — For the most part, the study of Madison County's justice system disclosed through the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission merely adds emphasis and perhaps formality to charges which have been freely made over a number of years.

It should, however, not be disregarded or taken lightly. Made by a management consulting firm, the study reveals old bromides such as turnover and low pay in the state's attorney's staff which leads to another charge: Informal organization and lack of discipline in law flow.

It also points to a possible cause of these problems: poor salary structure. It should have added something about the fast turnover in our judiciary.

One of the more recent developments to surface in public consciousness is "overcharging defendants" on multiple counts "in the hope that at least one of these charges will survive the prosecutorial review."

This last situation perhaps has grown to a self-feeding situation. The overcharging is expected at all levels of justice machinery, and therefore is subject to inclusion in the final realization. Some way of breaking up that vicious circle must be formulated. Plea bargaining is, of course, a broad fallout.

The report has positive recommendations which should be studied seriously. Two of them appear particularly to us.

1. A long-range goal for development of a central bureau of criminal investigation over the entire county, designed to assume the responsibilities of both the sheriff's office and local police departments. Our neighboring county of Calhoun already has moved ahead of us in this respect.

2. Establishment by the County Board of a special committee to consider the findings of the report. This committee, the report suggests, should include the County Board chairman, the board's Judicial Committee chairman, the state attorney, the sheriff, a spokesman from the chiefs of police, and a mayor from one of the county's larger cities.

Our own suggestion would be that it include representatives including at least one from the legal profession and representatives from such crime-affected classifications as insurance firms and, for sure, the black community.

Complaints already have been voiced among county officials that no one was informed the study was being made, though it's been under way since July 1976. As a newspaper dedicated to giving the public information about developments of such wide public involvement, we cannot endorse the relatively secret operation fully, or ever.

There's one important point in favor of the complaints, however. They indicate that at least the officials making them had no opportunity to exert direct pressure on the result.

The report leaves it up to the County Board to establish the report study committee. It's about the only governmental body in the county with power to perform such an act, so we might as well go along with the recommendation, though even that course engenders possibility of slanting the committee's composition.

Alcoholism alters lives of 50 million

Editor's Note: The lives of 50 million Americans are affected in some degree by alcoholism. That's the estimate of Dr. Ernest P. Noble, director of the National Council on Alcoholism.

Question: What is an alcoholic?
Answer: An alcoholic is defined in a broad way as an individual whose drinking interferes with his physical, emotional and social functioning.

Q. Doesn't that definition make everybody who drinks an alcoholic?
A. No. It makes an alcoholic someone who has an ounce interferes with all of those functions?

A. Yes. That's important to remember. We also talk about an alcohol abuser, and we make a distinction because alcoholism is seen as a disorder or a disease. There is the other individual who drinks socially in a way that it's a problem. For example, an individual who goes to a party, gets drunk and has a traffic accident.

Q. How does one know the danger?

A. When alcohol becomes a central focus in your life. When you cannot function without alcohol. When you are under stress and the only way to cope with it is through the bottle. That is the danger signal. Physical danger signals usually come much later—cirrhosis of the liver, stroke, memory and brain functioning, effects on the muscles and the pancreas, and others.

Q. Are there also social dangers?

A. Alcoholism is one of the most severe problems in our country also from a social point of view. And that raises the question of our attitude about alcohol in our culture. The bottom line here is that alcohol is so freely available that people just get into it. If the television is there, and advertising is there, and it's very available and it's a drug, then I think people begin to use it.

Q. Is it part of the function of your agency to influence the social attitudes?

A. We study the problem and determine what the facts are. We present those facts to those in policy-making decisions. We're not a regulatory agency.

Q. Your institute has a budget, I believe, of $161 million. In what areas is that money spent?

A. About 70 per cent goes for treatment.

About 8 or 9 per cent goes for research, which is entirely too little because we need much more basic information. We also have a very small budget for prevention, education and resource development.

Q. How do you cope personally in social situations?

A. That's a very good question. I, myself, drink. I may have two or three glasses of wine at a dinner. But I always recognize that I'm taking a drug. I say alcohol is the dirtiest drug we have. It's like water—it permeates all tissues. There are no barriers to alcohol in the body. And it creates problems annually costing our country $31.5 billion. I don't think any other drug comes close to that total.

Q. With all the research you're doing, is there anything really new to be discovered about alcohol?

A. There are a lot of questions in this field and I think it for the institute to come up with objective information. Recently we talked about the effect of alcohol on a pregnant mother. The evidence is coming out very clear that there is a damaging effect and I think that's one of the things the institute is doing.

We would like to design drugs that prevent harm on the body. Alcohol causes cirrhosis of the liver. We have no cures for cirrhosis or medication to slow down the process. We need research in that area because people are going to continue drinking.

Q. Do you think it's peculiar that the Federal Drug Administration would ban the sale of saccharin and cyclamate and not alcohol?

A. Alcohol is so much a part of our culture, it's such a powerful industry, there's so many tax dollars coming from it, that it can't be regulated as are saccharin or barbiturates.

Q. Should we ban beer advertisements on television, as we have tobacco advertising?

A. The appropriate thing is to talk to the industry. I'd like to see appropriate messages coming from television. I don't like to see a message that says, "Hey, drink this and you're going to be successful." Prohibition did not work, but I think there are means of control.

Facts on violence help public avoid panic on the scene. One of those was Frank Hawkins, editor of the Pittsburgh (Pa.) Post-Gazette, who expressed the opinion in his front page column last week that a fair trial and an impartial jury are still possible after all that has transpired in the last two weeks.

"How can an impartial jury be impeached if the public has been saturated with prejudicial notoriety of a nature damaging to the defendant?" he asked. "If, for example, the public has been misled with the details of an alleged confession, or simply with a report that a confession has been obtained?"

"Some news stories and news can so poison the public as to make the impugning of an impartial jury impossible."

"This presumes that everyone devours the news, believes it and remembers it in detail."

"Experience suggests, however, that over a period of time many people forget what they have read or heard and retain open minds receptive to the evidence presented in court."

the evidence presented in court. The passage of time is the only factor working in the defendant's favor.

"The court can also provide for a change of venue. Richard Speck, for example, was tried not in Chicago, where several murders were committed, but in Peoria, Ill."

"Moreover, prospective jurors are subject to challenge individually as well as their prejudices in the case at issue. Despite prejudices in the case at issue. Despite adverse publicity, it is still possible to impanel fair-minded jurors."

"It isn't possible, however, to hush up a sensational crime or series of crimes."

"Even if it were possible or desirable to gag the news media, if several people policemen, hospital attendants, the coroner, relatives, friends, the undertaker—know about a crime, presently the details will spread by word of mouth."

"The facts will be garbled and exaggerated to the extent that the public spreads by word of mouth."

Abortion battle in state arena

By ROBERT DI VEROLLO
Recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling restricting federal funding of abortions reverts to the states the right to regulate abortion.

What was usurped by the court in 1973, says Dr. Mildred Jefferson, president of the National Right to Life Committee.

"Part of the serious difficulty in the 1973 decision was that it acted as a sort of super-congress, taking away completely the rights of states on this matter by legalizing abortion on demand," Jefferson, a Boston surgeon and a Methodist, said in an interview.

Jefferson said the committee wants an amendment to the Constitution "to establish the right to life and its protection as a principle on the federal level."

Any conflict of rights between parent and child would, however, be left to the legislatures in the states to resolve, said Jefferson in an interview.

The legislatures reflect the people's will better than Congress or the court does, she said in detail.

"Even if the court completely reversed itself on this issue tomorrow, a human life amendment would still be necessary to establish the principle that the right to life is absolute in our society," she said.

But she said pro-lifers are encouraged by the recent court ruling, which said that neither the Constitution nor federal law requires states to spend Medicaid funds for elective abortions.

The court also ruled that most women support the right to abortion, and that it is needed as a method of birth control and that the pro-life movement is inspired chiefly by Roman Catholics.

While some pro-abortionists have claimed that the rulings discriminate against the poor, Jefferson said, "the truth is that discrimination is on other things."

"They're as wrong when they say most Americans approve of abortion as they are when they say that most Americans are on other things," she said. "They don't tell the truth, and they don't even represent the majority of women in this country, so they don't know what the majority of women want. In fact, they should change their name because they only represent some women."

"As for the argument that we need abortion because birth control methods aren't 100 per cent safe, that's just propaganda spread by people who don't understand contraceptive mentality."

"There's no evidence that abortion is a reasonable way of dealing with one's reproductive physiology. It just happens to be a salable way."

Jefferson said that many Protestants are part of the pro-life movement but that this has been obscured by efforts to portray it as a Catholic endeavor.

She also accuses the news media of being generally hostile or indifferent to the movement.

"If you look at the top 10 newspapers, like the Boston Globe, New York Times and Washington Post, you find a concerted bias against the movement which is really a disgrace," she said.

"Some individual reporters make an honest effort to be fair, but most editors and the major networks don't."

Hesitation on the neutron bomb

By VIRGIL PINKLEY
President Carter and Congress can't seem to make up their minds about the production of neutron bombs.

When the chief executive rejected the B-1 bomber he said he would push for a new construction of cruise missiles and that other missile systems would be examined and their production accelerated.

Every time we talk about a new weapon such as the cruise missile or the neutron bomb the Russians immediately utter strong protests and claim that we are bringing on an arms race.

Once it was disclosed that the neutron bomb had been tested underground, in Nevada the Russians fired a propaganda broadside. One Soviet commentator wrote that instead of a satisfactory settlement in the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks, "the American administration is doing everything possible to complicate these negotiations." Then the official Russian news agency

The Senate has voted 74-19 to permit production of the controversial neutron warhead.

The vote came as a compromise after the Senate had defeated 58-39 an emotionally charged campaign to block production of the new weapon system which has been designed to target a Soviet attack on Western Europe.

Actual production is to be left to the President's decision.

Despite the formidable margin against efforts to block production of the weapon, Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., and Minority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., said they believed there was a need to proceed with the ruling on proceeding with production of the warhead.

The President said that a decision to use nuclear weapons is "a horrifying prospect" but he nonetheless supports production of the controversial neutron bomb, although delaying a decision on whether to deploy the weapon.

Speaking about the new bomb, which is supposed to kill people but not destroy buildings in built-up areas, the chief executive said that the neutron bomb "ought to be one of our options."

He promised to make a complete analysis before making a final decision about the production or possible use of the weapon. He thinks it would give us more flexibility in our arsenal of weapons.

In discussing the bomb at a press conference he added, "The essence of the question is that if the neutron weapon ever should have to be used against enemy forces in occupied territory by our allies or ourselves, the destruction would be much less than the use of conventional missiles."

The new device is designed to kill attacking soldiers with neutron radiation while sparing civilian areas from blast destruction and snabling

'Increase, multiply, fill the earth'

To the Editor:
"Fools rush in where angels fear to tread." So I'm a fool. I'm thinking: It's time to talk of women having kids—mothers having babies.

Someone wrote that Margaret Sanger discovered a method of birth control. That was passed off as a "great deed." Now, I can believe that God is great. God created human beings. God is pro life. He said to Adam and Eve, and to Noah: "Increase and multiply and fill the earth."

It thus appears to me that those who engage in preventing children are not doing great deeds. They are not doing God's work. They are doing the very opposite.

This year, a million less babies will be born than 20 years ago.

of 77" rise up before the throne of God to sing the praises of Mrs. Sanger and their non-mothers? Don't sit around wondering for Margaret Sanger to be canonized.

Rainy week, grave only partly filled

To the Editor:

On Aug. 28 I was called to Grace City by the untimely death of my mother. Neighbors and friends were quick to respond, carrying in food and visiting in the home.

We sincerely appreciate their love and kindness. The hospital and mortuary gave us every consideration, filled with compassion.

My problem arose when I returned to St. John's Cemetery about dusk.

There was my mother's grave. The flowers appeared to have sunk into the grave.

The grave lacked 12 inches of being filled to the top of the ground; 16 inches of dirt were needed to keep the surface water out of the grave.

Deep rains would be the cause of the water to dig the grave. The water would have drained the whole side of the cemetery directly into the unfilled grave, and the clouds appeared to be promising rain.

My mother and father, called Bob and Mary, were in contact with me from Mr. Singleton. I was then informed nothing could be done until the next day.

I asked Mr. Singleton if there was any dirt available, and he said it was on the soccer court.

At this point, I informed Mr. Singleton that I would fill the grave. With the help of my nephew, we did what a crew of three had failed to do.

We did not have access to any of the gravedigging tools except the shovel. I was dumbfounded to find 20 tons of dirt on the soccer court.

Mr. Singleton was there and he took his turn at the shovel and assisted us in backing to the grave site.

Also, he promised to take $75 of the $800 paid to open and fill the grave.

I have suffered five heart attacks and am under a heart specialist's care at this time. But the urgency I felt could not stop me from doing this job.

CURBS ARE ADDED to the newly-poured 2.4-mile roadway of the Maryville Road extension Tuesday-morning, linking Pontoon Road with Highway 162. This work has been started at the Highway 162 end of the project near Lake School and East 23rd Street. The machine used to form the curb and gutter allows them to be poured without the use of forms. A less moist concrete mixture is used which allows the free-form installation. The machine can pour at a rate of approximately 2,000 feet per day. Another 22-foot-wide roadway will be poured next to the present one, making the new road four lanes wide.

Richard Earl McGrew, 41, of 10711 - 124th Ave., N.E., Kirkland, Wash., 98033, is seeking information as to the whereabouts of his mother, Mrs. Juanita Irene (Rhoades) McGrew, according to a family spokesman.

He and his mother have been separated since he was a small child and he has learned his mother's last known address was in California. McGrew has tried to locate his mother through social security offices and employment agencies but has found no trace of her, according to the family.

She was married to the late

Richard "Bud" McGrew and they resided in East St. Louis many years ago. She was employed as a waitress, and it is believed she has remarried, the family added.

The Rhoades family resided in the Madison and Granite City area and the son hopes to reach one of his mother's relatives or friends to learn her current address.

An aunt of McGrew, Mrs. Cordia Beal, lives at 5201 Lakeview Drive, and will accept information from local residents who have any knowledge of the mother, it was noted.

Thief loots van parked in yard

David Parker, 1732 Delmar Ave., reported at 7:20 a.m. Wednesday the theft of items valued at $800 from his 1970 Ford van, which was parked in the rear yard at his address.

Entry into the van was gained by prying a vent window. Stolen were a 23-channel Midland citizens band radio, valued at $200, a 23-channel Palomar CB radio, worth $64, an eight-track tape deck and two speakers, $66, a green tool box containing assorted mechanic's tools, $400, and a digital watch, $40.

Enrollment in area schools down 4.2%

Enrollment in Quad-City public and parochial schools continued to decline this year with a total of 15,101 students registered for classes during the 1977-78 year.

This is a reduction of 878 students, or 4.2 per cent below last year's total enrollment of 15,779 at the start of the term.

Enrollment in Venice, Madison, and Granite City parochial schools, grades one through eight, is 841, a decrease of 47 pupils from the 1976-77 total of 888.

Quad-City elementary grades in public schools have registered 7,092 pupils, including kindergarten through the eighth grade in Granite City, Madison, and Venice schools, and 99 pre-school and 30 early childhood students in Granite City. This is a decrease of 438 students from last year's enrollment.

Elementary pupils number 5,731 in Granite City, 403 in Venice and 658 in Madison. The 1976-77 enrollment was: Granite City 6,069, Venice 333 and Madison 1,106.

Junior high schools in Granite City and Madison have an enrollment of 2,113, down 208 from last year's total of 2,321.

This year, Coolidge Junior High has 734 students, Grigsby Junior High 602, and Prather Junior High 328. Madison Junior High has 249 registered.

In 1976-77, Coolidge had 811,

Grigsby 576, Prather 610 and Madison 324.

There is a total of 4,926 students enrolled in Madison, Venice and Granite City High Schools, a drop of 116 pupils from the 5,042 total for the 1976-77 year.

Granite City North High School this year registered 1,084 and South enrolled 2,510 for a total of 4,194, a decrease of 207 students from last year's total of 4,301. Last year, North had 1,717 and South 2,584.

This year, Madison High School has 579 students, a drop of five from the previous year of 584.

Venice High School shows a decrease of four this year with a total of 153 compared to last year's enrollment of 157.

Following are Granite City schools' 1977-78 totals, with last year's enrollment figures in parentheses: Emerson 279 (284), Frohardt 471 (481), Johnson 518 (510), Lake 301 (291).

Logan 258 (289), McKinley 268 (296), Marshall 299 (330), Maryville 446 (444), Mitchell 400 (422), Nameoki 370 (404).

Niedringhaus 420 (433), Parkview 333 (358), Stallings 260 (280), Washington 300 (308), Webster 339 (336) and Wilson 469 (499).

Madison elementary public school enrollment follows: Louis Baer 228 (278), Harris 363 (405), Dunbar (184) and Blair

School 216 (229), totalling 958 this year, a decrease of 148 from last year's total of 1,106.

Venice elementary public schools total 403 for the current school year, the only school in the Quad-Cities to show an increase. There are 50 more students than last year, when the total was 353.

Parochial schools in the Quad-City area registered 841 students for the 1977-78 school year and are as follows, with last year's total in parentheses: St. Joseph 75 (88), St. Elizabeth 230 (226), Sacred Heart 128 (145), St. Margaret Mary 201 (203) and St. Mary-St. Mark 207 (216).

There are 149 pupils in grades one through six at St. Mary's school and 58 students in grades 7 and 8 at St. Mark's for the present year.

Assault charged

Michael D. Fears, 25, of 2826 Nameoki Road, was arrested at home early this week and was charged with battery.

It is alleged he forced his way into the apartment of Carol Holcomb in the Parkway Apartments Sunday morning, struck her, tore her necklace and earrings off, injuring her, and tore her clothing. She looked herself in a bathroom and the man in her apartment then left, she told police.

Thieves damage, loot apartment

Items valued at about $1,270 were stolen from an apartment building at 1726 Edison Ave., owned by Marie Deason, 574, Tenn., it was reported early this week.

There also was extensive damage to two apartments in the building, including four broken windows, fire damage in the kitchen, smoke damage throughout the apartments, and windows broken and torn loose from the walls.

A telephone was cut from a wall and stolen and the door to a storage shed was kicked open. Stolen were two refrigerators, two gas ranges, a kitchen table and chairs, two bedroom sets, two couches, two end tables and lamps, draperies and an air conditioner.

INTRODUCING FIESTA. IMPORTED FROM GERMANY BY FORD.

Fiesta with Decor Group.

The Ford Fiesta. It's outsold every new car nameplate ever introduced in Europe, based on sales in the first six months, even surpassing the most popular cars from Volkswagen, Renault and Fiat. Behind that success is Fiesta's dramatic level of automotive performance.

ADVANCED EUROPEAN ENGINEERING

Fiesta is assembled by Ford in Germany, where its competition included some of the world's finest performance sedans. It was engineered for stability on Europe's high-speed autobahns. Yet for all its performance, Fiesta is engineered to be a simple, easy to service car.

FRONT-WHEEL DRIVE TRACTION

Fiesta has front-wheel drive, which helps give the car good drive traction—even on snow and ice. This, in addition to Fiesta's MacPherson front suspension, rack and pinion steering, and Michelin radial tires, contributes to a solid feeling of controlled action.

Contoured bucket seats of the Fiesta Sport.

QUICK AND MANEUVERABLE

Fiesta responds. In Ford tests it did 0-50 MPH in an average of 8.8 seconds (9.1 seconds for California emissions equipped models). And its front disc brakes brought Fiesta from 50-0 MPH in an average of 3 seconds.

46 MPG¹ HWY

*Base Fiesta sticker price excluding taxes, title and destination charges.

And Fiesta handles...with a precise rack and pinion steering system that gives it excellent control in tight corners and traffic maneuvers.

EASY TO SERVICE

Fiesta was engineered to be simple and easy to service. Owners will appreciate its highly accessible transverse mounted engine. And see-through containers that allow "sight check" of fluid levels in battery, cooling system, brake and windshield washer reservoirs. In addition, Fiesta has self-adjusting clutch and brakes, and suspension and steering system that require no scheduled maintenance.

Variable rear hatch gate area of the Fiesta Ghia.

A SURPRISE INSIDE

Fiesta's 4-passenger design has created more back seat legroom than any other imported or domestic car of its kind. In addition, Fiesta has excellent luggage space, and a convenient floor-to-roof rear hatch door.

Fiesta is available from more than 5,000 authorized Ford Dealers across America...thousands more than any other import.

A single test drive can show you why Fiesta is Europe's most successful new car in history.

Mitchell PTA sets first meeting date

Plans were finalized for the first membership meeting of the Mitchell School PTA during a executive board session, conducted Monday evening by President Betty Paschdag.

Parents are being invited to attend a pot luck supper at 6 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 8, at the school, to be followed by a visit to the student's room. Teachers will speak to the parents on "What Your Child Should Learn This Year" in a classroom discussion, the president added.

A plant booth will be Mitchell School's contribution to the Mitchell A.C. Fall Festival set for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 9, 10, and 11th, it was announced.

The president also reported the annual Book Fair will be held Tuesday, Sept. 6, through Monday, Sept. 12, this year and books may be bought in the library, rather than by ordering them.

Board members also agreed to host a Room Mothers breakfast at 9 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 7, for mothers who are interested in assisting with school activities for the forthcoming year. All mothers are invited, Mrs. Paschdag added.

A budget was prepared during the meeting and will be presented for members approval at the Sept. 8 meeting.

Mitchell PTA was presented with a national award for the highest percentage increase in membership for the 1976-77 school year, according to the president.

St. Bartholomew's resumes schedule

The Rev. Wilbur L. Lear, rector of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, 22nd Street and Grand Avenue, announced today that the parish will return to its regular service schedule this week.

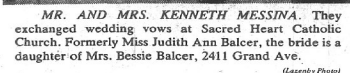

The hours of services will be Low Mass (Rite ID) Saturday 5 p.m., Low Mass (Rite II) Sunday, 7:30 a.m., Sung Mass and sermon (Rite I) 10:30 a.m. The 1977-78 session of the church school will begin on Sunday, Sept. 11th in connection with the 10:30 service, with classes for youngsters from nursery school age and under.

Father Lear added information concerning local parish programs are available by calling 876-7245 or 876-9007.

INJURED SHOULDER Robert Kratz, 22, of 2441 State St., was treated for a sprain of his right shoulder at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 7:35 p.m. Monday and released. He incurred the injury in a motorcycle accident.

CASH STOLEN CHECKS Mrs. Judy Markowski of Baden, Mo., a former Granite City resident, informed police at 10:20 a.m. Tuesday that several checks had been cashed at various Schnuck's stores during her last account at Northwestern Bank & St. Louis. She said the checks were taken in July from her previous address here together with jewelry and clothing items.

Bouquets of white gladioli, yellow roses and greenery adorned the altar at Sacred Heart church where the wedding on July 29 of Miss Judith Ann Balcer, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grand Ave., and Kenneth Paul Messina, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John and Mrs. Joseph Messina, was celebrated.

A program of selected wedding music was played by the organ and Mr. Joseph J. Cragan, organist.

Father James Hill performed the marriage ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening, followed by a reception held at the American Legion Hall, 1825 State St.

Edgar Reed and John Moulden escorted the guests to their seats.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the Round Table Restaurant in Collinsville.

Mr. Balcer was educated in 1971 from South High School and from F. W. Olin School of Theology. She is employed at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

A 1974 graduate of North High School, she is currently attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where she works as a secretary.

The bride is residing in Granite City.

The bride chose a formal length white jersey gown designed with an empire waist. Queen Ann neckline trimmed with Venice lace, and long sleeves edged with lace and accented with matching lace. Her semi-full skirt fell softly into a full sweep train.

The bridesmaids wore white with seed pearls, secured a melody length veil and she carried a cascade of mixed green and white flowers.

Miss Becky Rodgers served as maid of honor with Miss Mary Ann, Miss Mary Crown, Miss Denise Spahr and Miss Cindy Balcer, a cousin of

They were identical styled dresses in rainbow colors of yellow, blue, green and pink jersey. Their gowns were designed with tiny shoulder straps, V-necklines and long pleated skirts, complemented with floral capes and picture hats in shades to match their attire.

Each attendant held a nosegay of elegance carnations and baby's breath in the pastel color scheme.

Karen and Diane Dannenbrink, cousins of the groom, were flower girls. They wore long lavender knit frocks enhanced with a white satin bow at the waistline and white floral capes.

Cards were signed for Mrs. Edna Johnson, a patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital and for Mrs. Leoda Cobeon who is ill at home. Mrs. Ruby Mayberry led prayer for the sick and Rev. Dutton offered the closing meditations.

Others present were Florence Paul, Gladie Smith, Gladys

Each carried a basket of lavender and white blossoms. Steven Randall, a nephew of the groom, was the ringbearer. Greg Stafford attended the groom as best man. Kevin Crown, Greg Sutphin and John Schmid were ushers.

MR. AND MRS. DARRELL WILLIAMS. Their wedding was solemnized at Tri-City Park Tabernacle. The bride is the former Miss Cheryl Lyn Hunt, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hunt, 701 Twenty-eighth St. (Lazenby Photo)

The Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Beasley hosted an open house reception in their home, 2136 Dewey Ave., Monday evening in honor of their son and daughter-in-law, Lieutenant and Mrs. Charles Beasley, who are attending the Hill Country School of Leadership in San Antonio, Texas. Rev. Beasley is pastor of Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church.

A special memorial service was conducted for Mrs. Thelma Mathews, Mrs. Nellie Roseman and Stanley Levandowski, deceased members of Granite Chapter 650, Order of the Eastern Star, during a chapter meeting held during the weekend, at the Masonic Temple.

Maxine Compton, worthy matron and Charles Youngs, worthy patron, presided at the session.

Hazel Wood announced arrangements have been completed to have buses reserved to take members to the grand chapter meeting in October. Reservations must be made with Mrs. Wood or Mary associate matron, on the birthday calander project and Mrs. Hulda Griffith who reviewed the visitation program.

Grith said that members to notify her when a member is ill or hospitalized.

Pro tem officers for the evening were Mary Ellen Lewis and Florence Spohr.

After the meeting refreshments were served by Mary

Plans were also discussed for the annual past matrons and past patrons night, which is scheduled for Sept. 8.

Those introduced were Mrs. Bess Henley, a past grand officer, 18 grand chapter

Matron of honor, Mrs. Mike Williams, a sister-in-law of the groom, and bridesmaids Mrs. Bill Williams, a sister-in-law and Miss Dana Boner, a niece of the groom, chose identical pink chiffon dresses. The bridesmaids wore white V-necklines and empire waists and each attendant were a matching picture hat. Their bouquets were arrangements of pink and white carnations and baby's breath, festooned with pink streamers. The bride, a girl, married the groom's sister, a white dress, in a white empire style frock fashioned of chiffon over silk. She wore a white daisy headband in her hair and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white daisies. Jason Beaver, a cousin of the mother, Mrs. Wilson was groomed in a formal length mint green dress. Both wore ties of white carnations intended to match their attire. The ceremony was held at the Moose Lodge immediately following the ceremony. Robin Boner attended the guest book. The parents of the groom, hosted a rehearsal dinner in their home on the evening preceding the wedding.

The groom chose his brother, Mr. William M. West, as best man. William and Lance Hunt, brothers of the bride, Glenn Wilson, the groom's brother, and John Stone composed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hunt selected a blue polyester gown with a lace ensemble and the groom's

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES G. TAYLOR who were united in marriage at Nameoki United Methodist Church, formerly Mrs. Teresa Lee Butler, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Butler, 1721 Moro Ave.

Taylor-Butler wedding at Nameoki Methodist

Miss Teresa Lee Butler, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Butler, 1721 Moro Ave., became the bride of Charles G. Taylor, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Taylor, 7 Fontainebleau, Aug. 20, at the Nameoki United Methodist Church.

Altar bouquets of red roses intermingled with lily of the valley and greenery and burning candles in branched candelabra and red roses on the pews, provided the setting for the double ring ceremony performed at 7 p.m. by the Rev. Max Martin.

Organist Kevin Martin accompanied Mrs. June Branding as she sang, "I Love You Truly," "Because," "Sunrise, Sunset" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Butler chose a full length gown fashioned of white satin and Venice lace.

Long sheer bishop sleeves, accented with motifs of lace roses, were set into the empire bodice featuring a high collar trimmed in lace.

An overskirt of Venice lace, edged with a gathered ruffle enhanced the semi full skirt and cathedral train of satin.

A white lace carnation cap, etched with pearls, secured a cathedral length veil of bridal illusion bordered with scallop lace, and was created and designed by the bride's mother. She held a bouquet of silk red roses with lily of the valley.

Mrs. Jerry Hart, a sister of the groom, was honor attendant. She wore a full length pastel green satin A-line gown designed with an empire waistline, puff sleeves tightly banded at the elbow and a high stand-up collar.

A sheer white apron embellished with tiny green flowers was worn over the skirt.

Miss Debbie Deigler served as bridesmaid and she chose a formal gown in orchid styled identical to the matron of honor.

Both attendants carried floral arrangements in hues to match their gowns.

The groom chose his brother, Richard Taylor, as best man. Steven Gardner was the groomsmen and Larry Petri and Greg Harper seated the guests.

A reception for guests was given after the service at the Knights of Columbus Hall. The rehearsal dinner was hosted in the home of the groom's parents.

The bride graduated from North High School and is employed at Central Hardware. A graduate of North High School the groom attended Florissant Valley College for a year and will leave on Sept. 12 for training with the U.S. Air Force.

The newly married couple are temporarily residing in Granite City following a wedding trip to Branson, Mo.

First birthday of Stacey Davenport

Stacey Davenport celebrated her first birthday at a party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Davenport in their home, 2861 Clark Ave., Sunday afternoon.

A puppy dog theme was used as party decorations and for a barbecue served to 42 guests who attended the event.

After the honoree opened her gifts, games were directed for the children present, followed by cake and ice cream.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. James Davenport Sr., of Eldorado, Ill., DeAnn Clark of Sellersburg, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rushing and children of Godfrey, Mo., and Mrs. Gary Eggs, St. Louis, Gall Purkey, Jefferson City, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Hampton, Glen Carbon, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Evans, of Madison.

Billions of birds, meat animals consumed; may cut inspections

By ROBERT ESTILL,
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

The meat and poultry business is not a "chicken-feed" operation — and neither is the program to police it to insure that customers get a wholesome product.

A leaner inspection program which could save the federal government an estimated $210 million through 1985 has been recommended to the U.S. Department of Agriculture by Boos, Allen and Hamilton, Inc., a management consulting firm.

Americans do love their meat and poultry.

In 1976, the average person in this country ate 52.5 pounds of chicken and turkey and 192.7 pounds of red meats (128.8 pounds of beef, four pounds of veal, 58 pounds of pork, and 1.9 pounds of lamb and mutton).

Attempting to insure that these products are safely slaughtered and processed plants in a wholesome condition is a large and expensive proposition.

Last year, 3.5 billion birds, 119 million meat animals and 72 billion pounds of processed meat and poultry products were inspected. Nearly 39 million birds, 406,000 meat animals and 68 million pounds of processed products were condemned.

That inspection program cost nearly $228 million, an expense shared by the federal and state governments and private industry.

The federal share amounts to nearly 80 per cent, a proportion that has increased almost four per cent over the last five years.

This is due largely to the influx of smaller plants into the federal system, as several states have discontinued funding their own programs, according to the consultants.

Industry reimbursed the federal government for $26 million, or about 10 per cent of the total cost.

With the exception of state grants, almost 90 per cent of the meat and poultry inspection costs were for salaries and benefits.

The animal and plant health inspection service has about 9,000 inspectors and veterinarians assigned to 6,800 meat and poultry slaughtering and processing plants in the nation.

In a three-volume, 700-page study done at a cost of $371,046, the management consulting firm recommended a number of steps intended to shift more of the burden to industry and reduce federal costs.

These include:

- Requiring all meat and poultry processing plants to conduct frequent testing of samples, and imposing progressively severe economic penalties for violations.

- Using a "bi-level" system for inspecting dead poultry; U.S. Department of Agriculture inspectors would continue bird-by-bird inspections of "bad" lots (those with high incidence of disease), and would spot-check "good" lots which would be examined by plant employees.

- Providing a more flexible inspection system for live animals. Healthy animals would go directly to slaughter, but the U.S.D.A. would inspect questionable animals.

—Establishing "pared-down" procedures for carcass inspection.

Consultants found there is no need for the USDA to examine all live animals. They said only one animal in 1.9 million is condemned during the on-the-hoof inspection.

Carcass inspection procedures should be revised to avert taking steps now required by regulations, but not always necessary for all species of livestock, they said.

"Only those steps deemed appropriate to the type of animals and the area of origin would actually be performed under the new system," the consultants said.

"In some instances, only a basic procedure need be performed. In others, such as inspection for tuberculosis, an expanded procedure is always recommended."

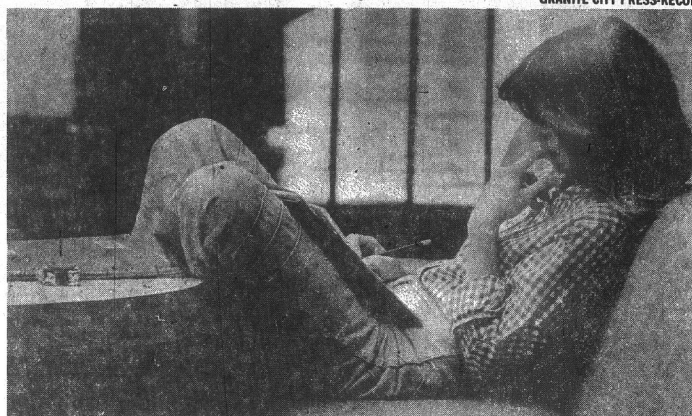

Carol Tucker Foreman, assistant secretary of agriculture for food and consumer services, said the USDA will not make any decisions on the report pending a review.

"We anticipate that this review will take 90 days to complete," she said.

"Some of the recommendations would require amending the present laws covering meat and poultry inspection and would have significant impact upon consumer concerns, industry operations, and our employee organizations."

Anticipating considerable public debate, the USDA scheduled public hearings for the University of Illinois' Chicago Circle campus and the U.S. Customs Building in San Francisco during August and one on Sept. 26-27 in Washington.

"We want to make certain that everyone has an opportunity to express an opinion on what actions the USDA should take," Foreman said.

Senior citizen fitness program added at 'Y'

The Tri-City Area YMCA has added a senior citizen fitness program to its fall and winter schedule.

Exercises and aquatic programs will be conducted by Lee Suarez and will feature calisthenics and conditioning exercises on Monday and Wednesday from 9 to 10 a.m.

The program is available to all senior citizens, age 55 years and older, and will provide a highly supervised and instructional program geared to the needs of the elderly. Interested senior citizens may register for the program and/or receive additional information by calling the "Y" at 876-7200.

WEDDING GOWNS STOLEN

Two long wedding gowns, sizes 7 and 9, and two bridesmaids dresses, 9 and 10, were stolen from Alright Cleaners in American Village Shopping Center on Peabody Road, it was reported Monday by Mrs. Pauline Valicoff. Entry into the building was gained by breaking a 3-by-4-foot window.

Larger 'circuit breaker' payment

(Office of Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal)

Q. I understand Governor Thompson signed a bill at Golden Age Day at the Illinois State Fair raising the benefit of the larger "circuit breaker" tax relief programs. Can you explain what it means to seniors?

A. House Bill 44, signed by the governor during ceremonies at the State Fair, will provide an increase of up to $150 more a year in circuit breaker payments to persons over age 65 or who are disabled with yearly income of less than $10,000.

The first increases under the legislation introduced in the House by Rep. Cal Skinner Jr., Crystal Lake, and sponsored in the Senate by Sen. John Davidson, Springfield, will be paid in calendar year 1978 based on 1977 tax bills.

The legislation provides a one-year period in which those entitled to circuit breaker benefits may apply for them.

During the 1976-77 fiscal year, which ended on June 30, a total of 294,244 homeowners and renters received $51.5 million under the circuit breaker program.

The "circuit breaker," known formally as the Senior Citizen and Disabled Persons Property Tax Relief Grant, offers help of $500 a year in cash to qualified seniors and disabled persons in Illinois to help meet rising rent and real estate costs.

Protection from chemical urged

In telegrams sent to 75 companies which formulate, produce or manufacture dibromochloropropane, a pesticide which may cause sterility in male workers, the Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) is asking that action be taken to protect employees from exposure to the chemical.

OSHA, which is working closely with the Environmental Protection Agency, is issuing detailed guidelines for safe handling of the chemical soil fumigant, called DBCP. Inhalation poses the major occupational hazard of DBCP; however, skin contact and ingestion are also considered hazardous. The pesticide is used on a variety of crops, including cotton, soybeans, fruits, nuts and vegetables.

The Dow Chemical Company, one of the basic producers of DBCP, announced it was closing its plant manufacturing DBCP in Magnolia, Ark. The company acted after receiving information that DBCP might be causing sterility in male workers in the Lathrop, Calif., plant of Occidental Chemical Co.

Dow, Shell Chemical Company and Occidental are major producers of the chemical. About 25 million pounds of DBCP are manufactured annually.

Farm field day Sept. 9

By RON CORNWELL

Extension Farm Adviser Madison County farmers will be interested in attending the Brownstown Field Day scheduled Friday, Sept. 9. Tours will start at 9:30 a.m. with each tour lasting about two and a half hours. The last wagon tour will leave at 10 a.m.

The Brownstown Research Center is located 10 miles southeast of Vandalia on Route 185.

Topics of this year's agronomy day will include soybean fertility, insect situation, postemergence soybean herbicides, corn herbicides, drilling soybeans, zero tillage, grain sorghum, wheat varieties, fertilizers, diseases, forages, gardening, and sod testing.

Free soil tests will be a highlight of the field day. Farmers attending can bring three samples. The results of the limestone test will be available that day. The phosphorus and potash tests will be completed at the University and mailed to you.

The wheat streak virus has been a major problem in Madison County again in 1977. The main problem was not with wheat but susceptible varieties of sweet corn and field corn.

It is very important that farmers do a good job controlling volunteer wheat this fall. This is the only practical way of controlling the wheat streak problem.

The wheat streak virus is spread by the wheat curl mite. The virus over-summers on volunteer wheat, corn and certain wild grasses. Volunteer wheat is the biggest problem since wheat is a good host for both the wheat curl mite and the virus.

The curl mite cannot survive longer than a few days without a host plant. Therefore, it is important that volunteer wheat be controlled for two weeks or more in the fall before wheat seeding. The best methods of control are clean plowing or killing the wheat with a herbicide.

Since we had a problem with Wheat Streak Mosaic in the county this year, I would discourage early wheat seeding. I would suggest that wheat be seeded on or after the fly-free date which is October 7-9 for Madison County.

Fly-free date is a guide that was established as much for disease control as for Hessian fly control.

I would recommend a one and a half bushel wheat seedling rate if your wheat is seeded around fly-free date. If seeding is delayed, increase the rate.

Fertility is another important key to good wheat yields. Wheat requires a large amount of readily available phosphorus in the fall. Phosphorus stimulates early growth and is necessary for high wheat yields. Wheat is not very responsive to potassium unless the amount available in the soil is very low. The best guide to wheat fertilization is to use a soil test. A soil test will tell you the amount of phosphorus and potash needed.

The 1977 wheat variety plots in Madison County were on the Bill Morsey farm near Moro. The yields of the soft wheat varieties in this year's plot include Hart-67 bu. per acre; Argee-64 bu.; Blueboy II-63 bu.; Beau-60 bu.; Arthur-56 bu.; Stoddard-55 bu.; Arthur-71-64 bu.; Abe-53 bu.; Oasis-52 bu.; and Double Crop-51 bu.

Soft wheat variety plots were planted in 22 different counties this year in Illinois. The average of the wheat yields in the 22 counties include Blueboy II-62 bu. per acre; Hart-61 bu.; Abe-60 bu.; Arthur-58 bu.; Arthur-71-58 bu.; Beau-58 bu.; Oasis-56 bu.; Stoddard-56 bu.; and Double Crop-54 bu.

Hart, Argee and Beau were varieties new to the Madison County variety plots this year. Hart is a bearded soft wheat variety developed by the University of Missouri and Pennsylvania State University in 1976. It is similar to Abe in height and matures two days later.

Argee also is bearded and is five to seven days later than Abe and is three to five inches taller. Argee is very winter hardy and is best adapted to Northern Illinois.

Beau is a soft wheat developed at Purdue and is very similar to Arthur.

Seed for the newer wheat varieties will be very difficult to get this year. If you can obtain seed, I would suggest planting a small acreage of one of the new varieties to see how they yield on your farm.

For the 1977-78 year, I would still recommend varieties like Abe, Arthur, Arthur 71 and Oasis.

Urge student immunizations

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

Thousands of Illinois parents have just been through the hectic experience of getting their children back to school.

There are so many details to attend to — clothing, shoes, supplies, registration, transportation, schedules — the list seems endless. And, of course, we all want our children to have the best we can give them when they begin, or return to, school.

However, in the rush of making all the back-to-school arrangements, we sometimes forget — or overlook, or postpone — one of the most important school aids we can give our children — immunizations.

We may supply them with raincoats, boots, scarves, warm coats and other protective clothing. We make sure that, whether they walk or ride to school, all possible safety precautions are taken.

If they participate in athletics, we insist that they wear protective gear, such as helmets, face guards, gloves, etc.

Yet, many parents send their children off to school with no protection against polio, measles, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, mumps or rubella.

Polio can be crippling. Measles can result in hearing, vision or mental deficiencies. Rubella, if transmitted to a pregnant woman, can result in birth defects.

Any one of these diseases, in fact, can cause long-lasting or permanent damage.

Immunizations against these diseases are available to everyone — from private physicians or local health departments.

In addition, any Illinois parent who cannot get to a private doctor and who lives in an area where there is no local health department, can arrange to have his or her children immunized by contacting the Illinois Department of Public Health, Immunization Program, 335 W. Jefferson, Springfield 62761.

Remember, you can't be "over protective" when it comes to immunizations.

Children's project raises over $118

Six-year-old Robby Buecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buecker, 136 Briarcliff Drive, and his friends held a backyard carnival to fight Muscular Dystrophy during the weekend and raised $118.

Assisting Robby were, John Simpson, Gina and Lydia Collins as clowns, Tom Groshong and Keith Smiddy as magicians, Tony Rujawitz and Ray Vaughn as fortune tellers. Others helping were Linda Wickham, Cassandra Fenn, Robby Buecker, Debby Green, David and Randy Harmon, Chris Heinz, Christy Rogers and Terry Rujawitz.

Last year, in cooperation with the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, 42,229 backyard carnivals were held by children in the country and over $1,372,372 was raised for research and patient service programs.

Sanitary district to move equipment here

Part of the heavy equipment owned by the Metro-East Sanitary District and now stationed at the East St. Louis district facilities will be moved to the Granite City garage if a move to acquire a building in Washington Park is completed, it was reported yesterday.

A garage-office building at 6200 Forest Blvd., Washington Park, is expected to be purchased by the sanitary district board as soon as title papers are complete, a district officer said Wednesday. The district has paid $15,000 down on a total of $150,000. From $35,000 to $40,000 will be needed for remodeling. Bids are now being called for the remodeling work and for erection of a six-foot chain-link fence that will surround the property. District officials said they expect to make the move this fall, probably in October, and then will place the present office building on sale.

Several months ago the district sold its garage property which adjoined the office area in the 2700-2800 blocks of McCasland Avenue in East St. Louis because it was badly damaged by a tanker car explosion in the nearby Alton & Southern yards about three years ago.

Board trustees say the building is being purchased as an economy move which should save the district about $3,000 per month in rental on garage space, salaries for security guards and in utility costs.

The building in Washington Park has about 17,000 square feet of floor space, of which about 3,600 will be remodeled as office quarters.

The garage area will house the district's trucks and heavy machinery, but some of that equipment will be assigned to the Granite City office and garage to provide additional room, officials said.

The Granite City district offices and garage are located at 1801 Madison Avenue in the building formerly occupied by the Hundley auto agency.

LIFETIME LEARNING. A charter to establish the Institute of Lifetime Learning, a regional organization which will provide information about existing educational programs to older persons, is presented. Carol Aston, assistant regional representative of the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons, presented the charter to Bill Cassidy, far right, chairman of the Institute's advisory committee. Clyde Fisher (far left), assistant director of Off-Campus Programs at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and Anthony Traxler (second from left), director of the SIUE gerontology program, represented SIUE, one of three area colleges cooperating with the Institute.

FAR-OUT FOURSOME. Kiss may not be everyone's idea of an appealing group, but you can't knock success. The rock music group has already made $30 million from album sales. The vampire, Gene Simmons, plays bass; star-eyed Paul Stanley and spaceman Ace Frehley play guitars, and the drummer is Peter Criss, pussycat.

Preceptor Chapter opens 1977 season

"Beginning Day" was observed by members of Preceptor Beta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, at a come as you are breakfast held this week in the home of Mrs. Jane Laule, 3 Patricia Lane.

Mrs. May Ebling assisted with the 7 a.m. breakfast menu of scrambled eggs, hash brown potatoes, sausage, hot biscuits, butter cake, tea and coffee, served in the solarium of the Laule residence.

Arrangements were finalized for a bridal tea to be given in honor of Miss Nancy Haldeman on Sept. 11 in the home of Mrs. Imogene Forrest, 3528 Johnson Road.

Those attending were Arlene Haldeman, Pat Tsiglaroff, Imogene Forrest, Ruth Stoyanoff, Martha Jean Dyer, Betty Ebling and Dolores Byrnes.

Harmony Class elects

Milford Hahn presented devotions at the August meeting of the Harmony Class held during the weekend, in Wesley Hall of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

He read a poem entitled "Life's Clock" and then read part of a will written in 1827 taken from the history of the Baker family concerning the freeing of slaves.

John Lerch opened the meeting with prayer and Mr. Hahn, vice-president of the class, presided at the business session.

An election of officers who will serve for the 1977-78 year was held with Homer Huber named president. Other officers include: Fred Hacke, vice-president; Cleveland Cox, treasurer; Mrs. Edna Stith, recording secretary; Kathryn Richardson, corresponding secretary and Fred Stith, class teacher.

Plans were finalized to host a pot-luck dinner at the church for the entire church school on Sunday, Sept. 23.

Each one attending provided a "brown sack" lunch for refreshment and a birthday cake to honor Charles Reimers on his 91st birthday.

Those present were a guest, John Mark Lerch and members, Paul Martin, Alice Cruse, Kathryn Richardson, Ruth Furkey, Ruby Corbit, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Youngs, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hacke, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Potillo, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stith, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huber.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lerch, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Paddock, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Youngs, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hacke, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Potillo, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stith, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Frohardt.

A red tool box containing a large quantity of tools was stolen from the garage of Truman Hufford, 1933 Maple St., it was discovered early this week. A screen was cut and the window broken to gain entry.

Alice Cooper image lives on with Kiss

By ROBIN WELLES
HOLLYWOOD — Is the world ready for a $30 million Kiss?

That's how much money has rolled in for record albums alone from rock's outrageous foursome — and there are additional millions cresting for Kiss T-shirts, posters, belt buckles, photographs and an endless list of other promotion possibilities. Kiss actually looks like four clonings from Alice Cooper (who abdicated as high priest of the weirdos when he skittered off to Hollywood to try to make it as an actor).

Kiss members are bassist Gene Simmons, garbed as a long-tongued vampire; guitarist Paul Stanley, the star-eyed love boy; guitarist Ace Frehley, a silver-eyed, spaced-out spaceman; and drummer Peter Criss, a cowardly lion from Oz.

The act's the thing when Kiss performs — for up to $40,000 a night. Sirens wail and smoke swirls as Simmons emerges from his "castle" breathing fire. Lover boy Stanley prances and poses and screams: "Do you love me?" evoking a thunderous "Yes!"

The whole Kiss phenomenon — the first act to genuinely electrify the pubescent set in the 1970s — is the shrewd work of promotion geniuses at Casablanca Records and the group's manager, Bill Aucoin, who visualized them as four Alice Coopers when he first caught them at the Diplomat hotel in New York several years ago. Since then the promotion has been relentless. Now there even is a Kiss comic book selling for $1.50.

Musically, Kiss comes across with hard rock all the way — as on their latest for Casablanca, called "Love Gun." It's high quality rock — even without the flash and color.

Also getting cheers: CROSBY, STILL & NASH (Atlantic) — This great trio is back together again and better than ever. The days of youthful rebellion have faded and maturity has brought rich edgings to those wide-spaced harmonies that softened the rough exterior of rock music. CSN's shunned the gimmicks and packaged a quality musical product. The group is on tour this summer.

LIZA MINNELLI'S ROBERT DE NIRO — "New York, New York" (United Artists) — Splendid musical re-creation of the big band era that was at its swinging best at the close of World War II. In this soundtrack of the movie Minnelli and De Niro perform 24 songs made famous by Glenn Miller, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey and Benny Goodman — things like "Opus Number One," "Don't Be That Way," "You Are My Lucky Star," and "Blue Moon."

ENGLBERT HUMPERDINCK — Golden Love Songs (Epic) — The usual satiny luster to this one by Mr. Ro-mance who follows the same lucrative path of Sinatra and Coma. Englebert has fan clubs everywhere who dole out his every move. He'll have the gals sighing on this LP with songs like "And I Love You So," "Love Me With All Your Heart," and "The Most Beautiful Girl." A real sweet album.

JAMES TAYLOR (Columbia) — Another fine collection by the composer-singer who sizes up life and sees it as is: "Now baby when I told you that I love you I was only telling a lie, I'll be long gone before the crack of dawn..." And the agonies of a traffic jam: "I saw myself the next car back looking in the rear view mirror about to have a heart attack." Taylor's hit single, "Handy Man," also is on this LP.

SIUE advisement day at Scott

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will hold a general advisement day Sept. 8 from 1:30 until 4 p.m. at Scott Air Force Base Resident Center for those who wish to attend classes on the military base this fall, according to Clyde Fisher, assistant director of Off-Campus Programs at the University. The Resident Center is located in Room 8 of Building 3190 on the base.

Military personnel and their dependents, base civil service workers, and area civilians are eligible to attend the advisement and counseling sessions.

Military personnel seeking advancement or nearing retirement are being encouraged to attend the sessions to obtain information on educational opportunities. Civil service workers will be able to obtain information on upgrading their management skills by working toward degrees in business administration, marketing and accounting.

Stricter law on scholarship applications, loan defaults

Governor James R. Thompson has acted on legislation covering a wide range of subjects during the past week. The governor's actions on legislation included the following:

MUNICIPAL BUDGET HEARINGS

Public hearings on the proposed budgets of municipalities between 2,000 and 500,000 population will be required under House Bill 449, which was signed into law on Aug. 25. Under the new law, sponsored by Rep. Anne W. Miller, Hillside, the budgets must be available for public inspection for 10 days before adoption. At least one public hearing on the budget must be held following published notice of the hearing.

STATE SCHOLARSHIPS

House Bill 1053 provides punishment for people who lie on applications for state scholarships. Rep. Roman J. Kosinski, Chicago, sponsored the bill, which makes state scholarship fraud a Class B misdemeanor.

A related measure, H.B. 1077, authorizes the State Scholarship Commission to deny a grant to any student who has defaulted on a guaranteed loan. The bill also allows Commission participation in federal financial aid training programs. LAETITIA VETO. Gov. Thompson vetoed legislation which would have legalized the use of the controversial drug laetitia in treatment of terminal cancer patients. The governor said he believes the drug is "totally ineffective in treating cancer."

MASSAGE PARLORS. County governments will be allowed to regulate and license massage parlors in unincorporated areas under H.B. 1928, signed by Gov. Thompson Aug. 25.

MINE SAFETY. Emergency medical and communications facilities in Illinois mines will be improved under legislation signed during a visit to the Union County Fair in Anna.

The new law mandates two-way radio communication from inside the mines to outside medical personnel. It also requires the state Department of Public Health to set rules and regulations for training and certification of medical personnel.

In addition, the new law requires that outside medical personnel must be able to reach a mine entrance within 30 minutes. First-aid training must be provided by mine operators to each new employee within six months. The mine safety law will be administered by the Illinois Department of Mines and Minerals.

INFANT DEATH. A mandatory autopsy of any child who dies unexpectedly under two years of age will be required under H.B. 2340.

"This law will aid both parents and public health officials to gain more insight into the mystery of unexpected deaths of infants," the governor said.

STUN GUNS. Battery powered weapons which can stun victims with an electric shock and cause severe damage to the nervous system became illegal in Illinois under H.B. 289, signed by Gov. Thompson following unanimous approval in the General Assembly.

MOPEDES. Motorized pedalcycles or "mopeds" were legalized in Illinois during a bill-signing ceremony by Gov. Thompson in Olney.

LABOR LEGISLATION. Gov. Thompson last week signed legislation repealing an eight-hour day law for women employees and adding labor

AIRPLANE RIDE WINNERS. These three employees of the Baskin-Robbins ice cream shop, 4 American Village Shopping Center, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, won an airplane ride over the St. Louis area in competition among the nine employees of the local store. The criteria used in the selection of the three winners were salesmanship, personal appearance, work performance and customer relations. From left, are: Theresa Grace, Beth Hutson and Barbara Miller.

Competition to enter Coast Guard Academy

The United States Coast Guard Academy has announced that it is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as cadet, U.S. Coast Guard, class of 1982.

Applications are being accepted from both men and women. Appointments as Coast Guard cadets are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition, with no Congressional appointments or geographical quotas.

Applicants must be submitted to the director of admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to Dec. 15, 1977.

Candidates must arrange to participate in either the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or American College Testing Assessment (ACT) prior to or including the Nov. 19, 1977, administration for the ACT and the Dec. 3, 1977, administration for the SAT.

The competition for appointment as cadet is based on the candidate's high school rank, performance on either the SAT or ACT, and leadership potential as demonstrated by participation in high school extracurricular activities, community affairs, and — or — part-time employment.

Most successful candidates rank in the top quarter of their high school class and demonstrate mathematical and applied science fields.

To qualify for the competition, an applicant must be unmarried at the time of appointment, have no legal obligations resulting from prior marriage, and must have reached the age of 17 but not 22 by July 1, 1978. All applicants must be assured of high school graduation by June 30, 1978.

Applicants must have completed three units in English, and three in mathematics, including algebra and plane or coordinate geometry or their equivalents, and must fulfill basic physical and moral requirements.

* Coast Guard cadets obtain what is considered an excellent undergraduate education at no personal expense.

In addition, they receive pay and allowances to fulfill ordinary living expenses.

The constantly updated Academy curriculum offers nine majors which include: electrical, civil, ocean and marine engineering; marine, mathematical and physical sciences; management and government.

"These areas of academic interest, combined with varied elective courses, establish a solid foundation for a challenging career," a spokesman says.

Graduates of the Academy are awarded a bachelor of science degree and are commissioned as ensigns in the United States Coast Guard.

Selected officers may pursue further postgraduate education and specialized training at many leading civilian and military graduate or professional schools in such fields as aviation, business administration, electronics, engineering, law and oceanography.

"The young Academy graduate can look forward to a varied, exciting and demanding career as a regular Coast Guard officer," the spokesman adds.

"The Coast Guard performs essential humanitarian missions vital to the safety and saving of lives at sea. Under the auspices of the Department of Transportation, the Coast Guard establishes and coordinates search and rescue operations by ship and plane, and maintains advanced electronic and other aids to navigation scattered around the globe.

"It operates the icebreakers which clear the way for all polar expeditions, and enforces marine law and all aspects of Merchant Marine safety. In addition, the Coast Guard has responsibility for boating safety and marine environmental protection." Applications and additional information may be obtained by writing to: Director of Admissions, United States Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn. 06320.

One-day delay in garbage pickups

Milam-East Division of SCA Services which handles garbage collections in Granite City announced that all pickups will be one day later than usual next week because of the Labor Day holiday on Monday.

There will be no pickups on Monday with coverage of all routes starting on Tuesday and continuing through Saturday.

DECEPTIVE PRACTICES

A Madison man reportedly cashed a $196 check for purchases at Lampert Auto Center, 3214 Nameoki Road, and received $24 change, with the check being drawn on the closed account of a Chesterfield (Mo.) firm through the City Bank of St. Louis, the local store reported at 1:15 p.m. Monday.

The account had been closed since November 1976, bank officials advised.

Workshop for mature students

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a one-day continuing education workshop for mature students interested in enrolling in college for the first time or continuing an interrupted education, according to Louise Saunders, academic adviser at the University.

Sponsored by the Gerontology Program and the General Studies Division at SIUE, the workshop will be held Monday, Sept. 12, from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. in Room 1310 of the John S. Rendleman Building. There will be no charge for attendance. Pre-registration deadline is Sept. 7.

Participants may "brown bag" their lunches or utilize university cafeteria facilities. Paid parking break time will be free in all lots unless otherwise posted.

The workshop is especially designed to help men approaching their years of retirement — and those facing employment re-assignment because of technological obsolescence — prepare for careers in other fields.

Mrs. Saunders said the workshop also should be of great interest to women whose child-raising years are completed and who seek longer necessary. "Some are fed up with club and volunteer work and are looking for something interesting to do," she believes.

She said that both men and women in these categories suffer from a feeling of incompleteness because their futures are insecure. "Lacking in marketable skills and having no recent job experience, how do they get back into the swing of things?" Mrs. Saunders asked.

During the workshop sessions, participants will discuss ways to enter college without a high school diploma and how to gain college credit from life's experiences.

Participants will receive career and personal interest testing as well as group and individual counseling. Financial aid programs will be discussed. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the General Studies Division at SIUE or by calling 682-4242.

assigned as a metalworker at Fort Carson, Colo., after he completes his temporary duty at the Granite City Army Recruiting Station.

It was during his advanced training at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds that Pvt. Mitchell was picked for recruiter aide duty. Selection for the program is extremely competitive and reflects outstanding ability on Pvt. Mitchell's part.

He was nominated by his drill sergeant and approved by his first sergeant, by the commanding officer at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, and by Sergeant First Class Thomas Sparks Jr., Granite City Army Recruiting Station commander.

"Pvt. Mitchell survived the rigid selection process because he is highly intelligent, dedicated, and enthusiastic about being in the Army," says Sfc. Sparks. "He knows what the Army is doing for him, and he wants to help others get the same advantages."

Mitchell is on hand at the Granite City Army Recruiting Station to talk with interested young people about his experiences as a recent Army enlistee. He will be glad to discuss the opportunities open to those who can meet the Army's physical and mental standards. His phone number at the recruiting station is (618) 876-5660.

Army duty right at home

Home-town duty, unusual in the Army, has been offered to Pvt. Louis Mitchell of Granite City.

For the next 30 days, he will work as a recruiter aide at the Granite City Army Recruiting Station, 1206 Niedringhaus Ave., in Granite City.

Pvt. Mitchell's primary duty as a recruiter aide will be to serve as a liaison between the young people in the Granite City area and the Army recruiters at the station.

How will Pvt. Mitchell reach Granite City's young people? "I plan to go to places where people get together, and just let them know," he explains. "I'll give them an idea of the kinds of things that happen to me in my training courses, and of the benefits and guarantees the Army has given me."

"I also plan to make some visits to area high schools. That will give me a chance to tell my friends about the opportunities I've found in the Army."

The son of Louis and Carol Mitchell of Granite City, Pvt. Mitchell is a 1976 graduate of Granite City High School.

Pvt. Mitchell enlisted at the Granite City Army Recruiting Station three months before he left for basic training. He signed up under the provisions of the Army's Delayed Entry Program, which allows a recruit to begin duty up to twelve months after enlisting while receiving credit for time in service for rank, pay grade, and assignment considerations from the original date of enlistment.

He used the time to await an opening in the job training school of his choice, the Army's school for metalworkers at Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland. "Metalworking is not my permanent ambition," Pvt. Mitchell said, "but it will provide me with a good-paying job until I am in a profession of my choice, and will give me a career to fall back on, if necessary."

"I joined the Army mainly for the educational advancement it offers. I'll be able to attend college with Army financial aid, both while on active duty and after I leave the Army. It's a good deal," Pvt. Mitchell will be
